

10 awesome Firefox add-ons for businesses

Firefox is the most commonly used browser after IE and currently has thousands of Add-ons developed to add functionality to this browser ...

Firefox is the most commonly used browser after IE and currently has thousands of Add-ons developed to add functionality to the browser. Among them are many useful Add-ons for business users to apply for their work.

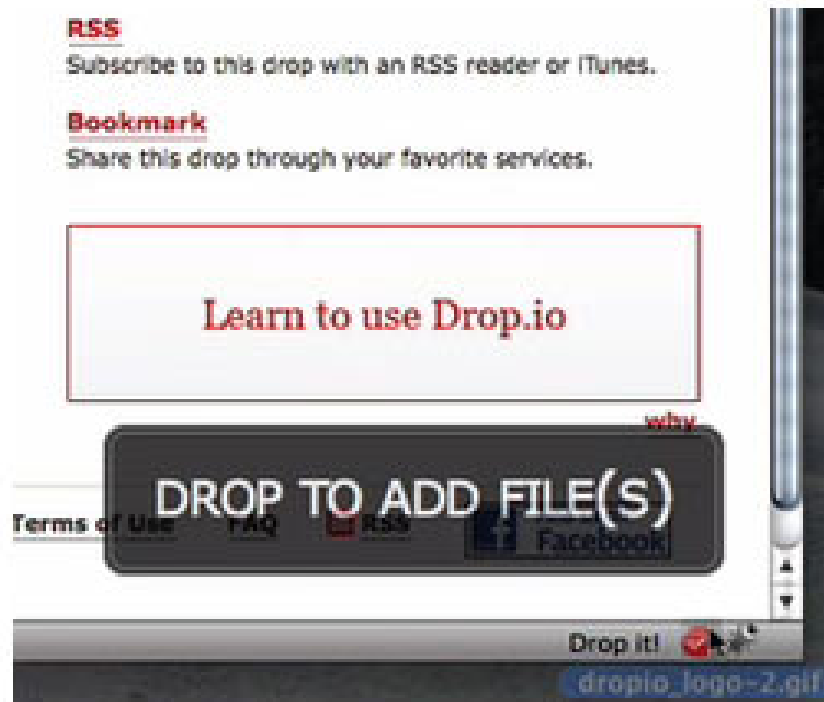

Here are 10 best add-ons for business users.

Drag & Drop.io

Drop.io is a great service for sharing large files or file groups with others via the web. Drag & Drop.io allows users to drag and drop files or folders directly from the Explorer or Finder window and even on the desktop into Drop.io. This is easy and fast. Click the '.io' icon in the lower right corner of the Firefox window, a menu appears and users can create a new 'drops' (online file archive), save regularly into drops and can Create a password for new 'drops'.

Free Drop.io will have about 100MB of storage (users do not need to register). If the average account subscription costs 19USD / 1 month for 10GB capacity or users can create a separate drop size that costs 10USD / 1GB / 1 year.

LinkedIn Companion

If Facebook is for the social life of users, then LinkedIn is for work. This is a way to connect with colleagues, industry experts and potential employees; Save the latest industry information, branding and learning from other colleagues' experiences.

The Companion LinkedIn will add a LinkedIn menu to Firefox so users can quickly search for companies or people. Users can add a person to your network when surfing the web, look at the latest updated profiles and quickly share resources on the LinkedIn page. For example, if you open an email from a friend on Gmail, a small logo with a LinkedIn icon will appear next to that person's email address. When you hover your mouse over this icon, you will be taken to that person's profile on LinkedIn. This tool also shows how many connections you have on LinkedIn in your current geographic area.

iMacros

iMacros allows users to record any settings of mouse clicks and text operations to re-run at any time. The utility also has a sidebar toolbar that displays favorite macros. To proceed with the recording, the user clicks the Record button and to review the recorded Macro, the user needs to navigate to the saved location and press the Play button.

Sync passwords and Bookmarks with Xmarks

Xmarks is an Add-on that synchronizes bookmarks between multiple computers and different browsers, allowing users to access the same bookmarks from home computers, laptops or iMacs. Moreover, by creating a shared folder and organizing bookmarks in the project, your team can easily set up a research repository, online applications, and more. from anywhere. To share a folder, log in to the My Xmarks dashboard from the Xmarks menu under Tools, shared bookmarks will be accessed from websites, via RSS or via email notifications.

Create an Email signature with WiseStamp

With WiseStamp, users can easily create and fill user signatures into Gmail messages, Google Apps, Yahoo Mail, .

Twitter Search

Twitter has become a reputation management, branding and research tool for businesses today - there's no better way to find out what users think about your product in real time. Twitter Search will search for Twitter easily by integrating the Twitter search function into Firefox's search box

Foxy SEO Tool

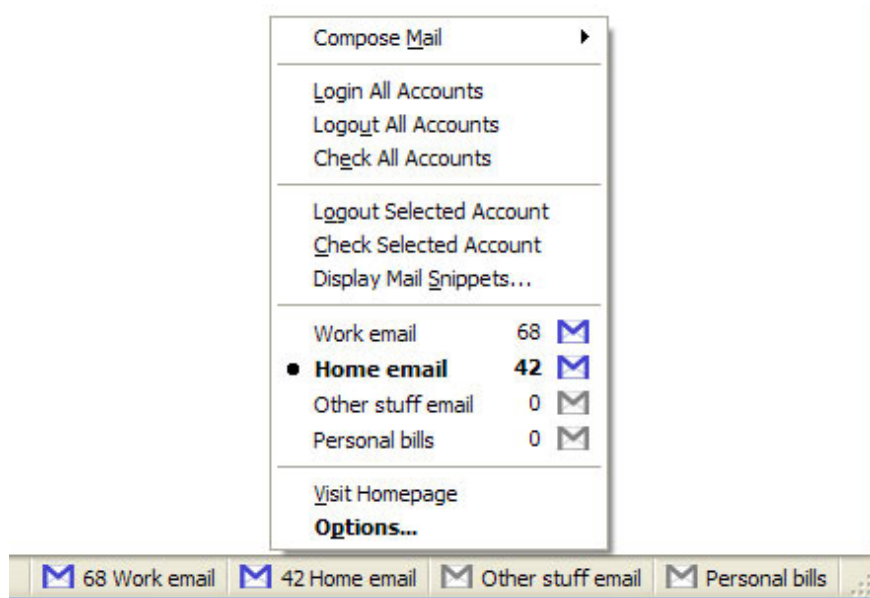

Foxy SEO Tool will install the toolbar (Toolbar) with many third-party tools on Firefox to help users determine how much their site is ranked on the large search engine as well as the corpse. Determine which parts can be improved so that search engines can easily search to your site. In other words, this is a tool to help optimize your website so that search engines can easily read and index high rankings for them.

Yoono - Manage social networking sites on the same interface

Handling company marketing on the media or branding strategy can be complicated because there are so many websites to monitor and post. Therefore, Yoono will bring the most popular social networking sites like Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, MySpace, etc. into the same single sidebar. Thus users can easily view and post on each page. With Yoono, users will not have to open each social network account on a separate tab or browser window, but all are in a common interface.

Gmail Manager

More and more businesses and organizations switch to using Gmail as a primary email system. Therefore, this utility will help users improve Gmail experience on Firefox. For example, allow users to know when a new email or email is created without opening the Gmail window, allowing each browser tab to open a Gmail account and users can easily switch back and forth between multiple accounts without must login multiple times. Gmail Manager also adds an entry to the right-click menu when the user clicks on an e-mail address. This allows users to easily select the account they want to email from.

Firebug

If you are a web developer or looking for ideas to improve your company website, Firebug is a practical tool that allows users to explore the HTML, CSS, and JavaScript code of any website. With Firebug, users can edit the code of any website and see the impact of those changes in real time. This add-on is pretty good for debugging broken pages, testing changes or learning tricks from other websites.

You finished reading the article "10 awesome Firefox add-ons for businesses" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.