

10 dating apps for girls and boys should not miss FA

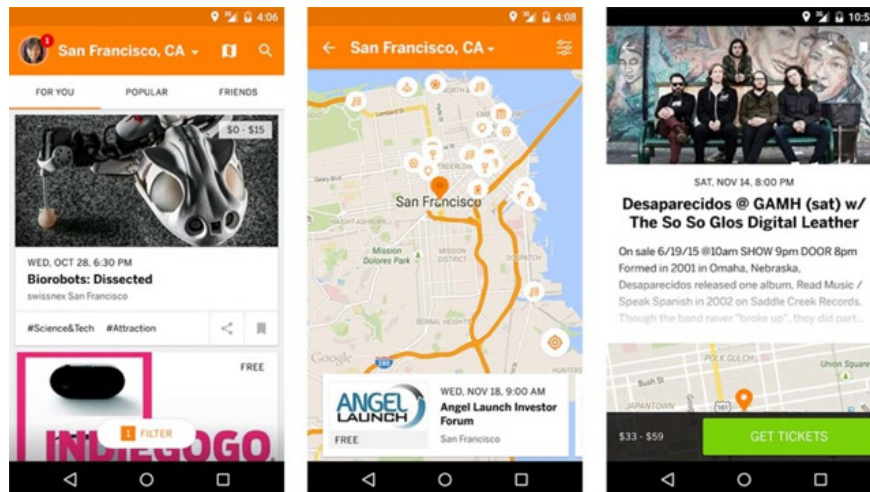

The best way to connect with someone is to go out and find a place to meet friends. However, with the development technology, there are many dating applications that can help the girls, the FA is busy finding the other half. This article will introduce you to the best dating apps, notes and find friends all over the place.

The best way to connect with someone is to go out and find a place to meet friends. However, with the development technology, there are many dating applications that can help the girls, the FA is busy finding the other half. This article will introduce you to the best dating apps, notes and find friends all over the place.

1. The best Android apps 2017

1. Eventbrite

Eventbrite is a local event app, find events that take place in your area. With this application, users can do things like buy tickets for events to come. It also comes with Android Pay support, Android Wear and offers lots of information. This is a great event finder app to find fun places and connect new people.

Download : Eventbrite (Free)

2. Bumble

Bumble is a dating app, it does the job as a matchmaking app. The application will prioritize the woman who decides who she will talk to. Bumble also has different rules depending on whether the relationship is opposite sex or the same sex. This is reliable app for women, although men will have a harder time to find people because they can not start anything before.

Download : Bumble (Free, in-app purchases)

3. Blendr

Blendr is a blend of location-based dating apps. The application uses location services on the user's phone to complete notes with people with similar interests.

Download : Blendr (Free, in-app purchases)

4. Coffee Meets Bagel

Coffee Meets Bagel is a cute dating app. Every day at noon you will receive a short list of people around you that match your interests, choose to join them or ask them to meet you. Like the Bumble app, men will have to wait to be chosen, it also has different rules for the LGBT community.

Download : Coffee Meets Bagel (Free, in-app purchases)

5. Down Dating

Down Dating is the app that combines Tinder and CMB. Every day, users will receive a list of people near them, choose who likes and who doesn't. When two people attract each other, they will have a private chat room to chat with. The app uses a dual anonymity system that you might like someone and they won't know unless you like it again. This helps keep the gender balance. The application is problematic and many people are not satisfied with the in-app purchase structure, however, it's worth a try.

KHI CẢ HAI BẠN CÙNG
THÍCH NHAU...
hãy để chúng tôi sắp xếp cho bạn!

Download : Down Dating (Free, in-app purchases)

6. Facebook

It's amazing how Facebook is a great dating app. It can do a lot of things like watching local events that interest you and your friends, good for meeting many people. When meeting people, make friends on Facebook and then use Facebook Messenger to chat. Another advantage of using Facebook is that you can know their identity quite quickly. There are tons of online dating sites, but most of them don't have a high success rate as introduced from friends. Please use Facebook smartly.

1. Connect with friends on Facebook

Download : Facebook (Free)

7. happn

Happn is an interesting geographic application, it works by tracking the user's GPS on the move in a day, then showing the people that have met on the road. It also keeps a count of times to touch a person for a long time. When two people are compatible, they will be allowed to chat. Users will pay a certain fee for some of the app's functions, however, this is a fun way to see if you accidentally meet someone one day and start a conversation with them.

Download : happn (Free, in-app purchases)

8. Google Maps

Google Maps is probably the best way to find places around you like bars, concert venues, clubs and other recreational activities. After that, you can start your trip to these locations to meet people.

1. Google Maps and 8 useful tips you should know

Download : Google Maps (Free)

9. Nearify

Nearify is another application that helps users find fun places. It supports over 200 cities worldwide and all types of events taking place there. Users can share events, receive notifications to not miss anything. While the setup is complex, but using the app for a while, it will 'learn' the content you like and offer great suggestions to get out and meet new people.

Download : Nearify (Free)

10. Tinder

Tinder is a popular online dating app, swipe right to like someone, swipe left to skip. If someone likes you again, it is a compatible object and the user will receive a message then will start a conversation.

Download : Tinder (Free, in-app purchases)

You finished reading the article "10 dating apps for girls and boys should not miss FA" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.