

10 immortal sayings of Steve Jobs

For the one-year anniversary of Jobs's death, let's take a look at the 10 most impressive statements from the book: 'I, Steve: Steve Jobs passes his own words.'

The late Apple wizard has a lot of profound, memorable speeches about innovation and innovation in technology.

For the one-year anniversary of Jobs's death, let's take a look at the 10 most impressive statements from the book: 'I, Steve: Steve Jobs passes his own words.'

Steve Jobs
1955-2011

For many, Jobs's speech at Stanford University's graduation ceremony in 2005 was the most famous, most inspiring, with quotes like: 'The time we have is finite, so don't waste time. time to live the lives of others'.

However, in his entire life, the father of Apple has many other interesting and colorful statements. For the one-year anniversary of Jobs's death, let's take a look at the 10 most impressive statements from the book: 'I, Steve: Steve Jobs passes his own words.'

1. 'For me, computers are the tools that have the greatest meaning that humans have ever created. It's like a bike carrying our thinking'.

2. 'I don't buy a lot of things because I find them weird'. (The Independent, 1990)

3. 'I think death is the greatest invention of life. It eliminates old models that are outdated, isolated' . (On PlayBoy 1985).
4. ' People think focusing means saying yes to things that they have to put their energy into. But it's not like that, in fact. It means we have to learn how to say No to hundreds of other good ideas. You must choose carefully. I am really proud of the things I do not do as much as what I did. In short, creativity is saying No to 1000 things . ' (Conference of global developers Apple, 1997).
5. ' The tombstone inscribed my name is the richest person with no meaning. It is important that every night you go to sleep, you can confidently say that I did something meaningful that day. ' (CNNMoney / Fortune 1993).
6. 'My job is not easy for others. My job is to make them better . ' (CNNMoney / Fortune, 2008).
7. 'If you want to live your life creatively, as an artist, don't look back too much. You must be ready to face all that you have done, with the people you have been before and ready to throw them away when necessary. " (Playboy 1985).
8. ' Creativity helps distinguish a leader from a disciple'. (Creative secrets of Steve Jobs, 2001).
9. "My business model is the Beatles. They are four independent individuals who always understand each other's negative personalities, but balance each other and create a great 'whole', not It's a simple way to look at business, the best thing that can never be achieved with just one person, it must be done by a team of partners . " (TV program '60 Minutes ' 2003).
10. "I will exchange my entire technology for an afternoon with Socrates' (Newsweek, 2001).

You finished reading the article "10 immortal sayings of Steve Jobs" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.