When it comes to creating functional areas in a room, the most important thing is not to entangle the room. A light divider can definitely help you to do this: it will separate the bedroom from the living room without reducing the attractiveness of the room. Such a decorative wall will make your apartment look more beautiful and bright.

Many people are afraid to create a dining area in a small kitchen. It seems that a dining room will take up a lot of space, but it's easy to separate it even in the smallest area apartments. What you need is a compact round table and a sofa that can be placed against the wall. In particular, it is also appropriate to have a pair of folding chairs in your apartment.

White furniture

Adding light into the small rooms to create warmth and make the scene more spacious. Look for a suitable hanging light bulb that can be easily adjusted in different locations. However, a hanging bulb is not enough for the room, so add a few more shadows at the end or edge of the bed, ceiling lights and wall mounts.
