

100 Most Common Japanese Letters - Kanji

Kanji is still the most common form of written communication in Japanese. Below you will find the 100 most common kanji characters.

Kanji is one of three different writing systems in Japanese, the others being the two kana systems, hiragana and katakana. Adapted from Chinese characters over 1,000 years ago, kanji remains the most common form of written communication in Japanese .

With multiple writing systems, two phonetic systems, and a symbolic system, Japanese can seem intimidating to beginners. Memorizing the most common kanji and other characters takes practice. But once you master them, you'll discover a means of written communication unlike anything in English. Below, you'll find the 100 most common kanji characters .

100 most common Japanese kanji letters

- ? sun
- ? No.1
- ? huge
- ? year
- ? between
- ? encounter
- ? people, people
- ? book

? moon, month
? long
? country
? go out
? up, top
? 10
? life
? children
? minute
? east
? No.3
? Go
? alike
? Now
? high, expensive
? money, gold
? time
? hand
? see
? city
? power
? rice
? by myself
? the day before
? yen (Japanese currency)
? combine
? stand
? inside
? number 2
? story, problem
? company, society
? People
? ground, location
? capital
? distance, between
? rice field
? body
? study
? down
? eye
? number 5
? Later

? new
? bright, clear
? direction
? segment
.? women
? number 8
? heart
? number 4
? people, nation
? opposite
? main
? correct
? replacement, generation
? speak
? number 9
? small
? think
? number 7
? mountain
? reality
? enter
? back, time
? Location
? field
? open
? 10,000
? all
? repair
? house
? north
? number 6
? question
? speak
? letter, article
? move
? temperature, time
? district
? water
? inexpensive, peaceful
? polite name (Mr., Mrs.)
? harmony, peace
? government, politics

- ? to maintain, to keep
- ? to show, surface
- ? way
- ? phase, each other
- ? mind, meaning
- ? to start, to emit
- ? not, un-, in-
- ? political party

You finished reading the article "100 Most Common Japanese Letters - Kanji" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
