

11 rare and interesting historical images that have never appeared

These rare and incredible historical photographs will help you see how the world has changed dramatically.

In 1987, a 7,600-ton apartment building was moved to build a boulevard in Alba Iulia, Romania.

Photo of Russian Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev in his youth, 1986, when he was only 21 years old.

Hannah Stilley was born in 1746. The picture was taken in 1840, this is probably the first person to be photographed and possibly the first film photograph.

'Apple', India's first satellite, was transported by bullock cart in 1981.

Director Steven Spielberg made the first Indiana Jones film in 1980 - an American series about the adventures of Dr. Henry Walton - a professor of archeology.

This photo shows a rather crowded interior at a London pub in 1898.

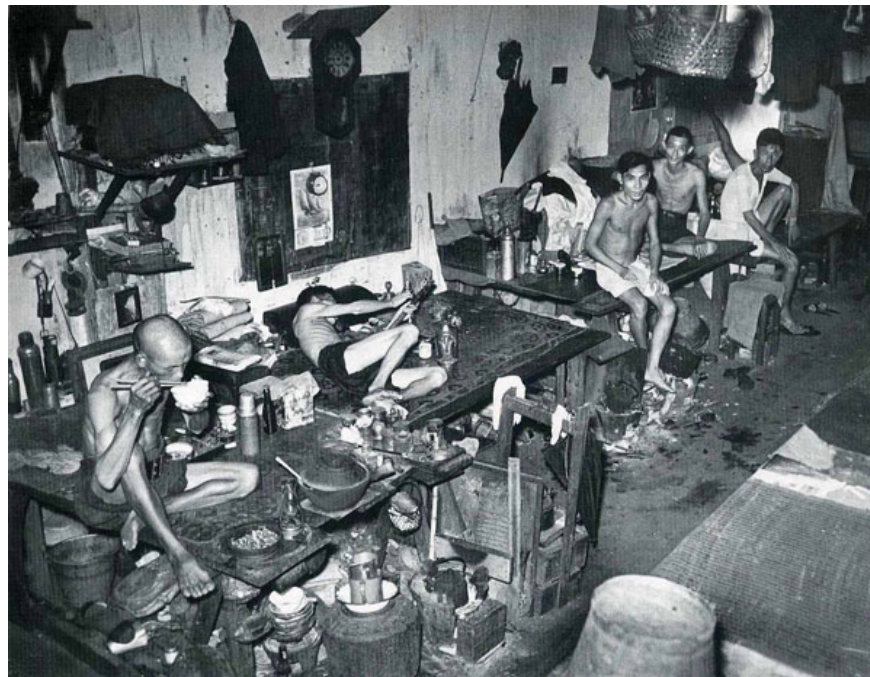

Man working on a fairly large early version of the computer, 1968.

The train that carried workers to work early in the morning in Japan in 1964, everyone took advantage of a little more sleep.

Pictured is the first biker gang in Oakland, California in the 1960s called the East Bay Dragons.

Inside a opium shop in Singapore, 1941.

The unbroken seal on Tutankhamun's Tomb ,1922 (3245 years untouched)

The seal on the tomb of King Tutankhamun - an Egyptian pharaoh of the 18th Dynasty, reigned circa 1332-1323 BC, intact after 3,245 years left untouched. The photo was taken in 1922.

You finished reading the article "11 rare and interesting historical images that have never appeared" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.