

15 invaluable lessons are drawn from the experience of the ancients

Talking a lot doesn't really help but sometimes, talking less often helps you avoid many bad consequences. Try to manage your mouth well so you don't fall into trouble.

The more we live, the more we realize that the teachings of our grandparents, parents or sincere advice from the elderly always contain a lot of valuable lessons that sometimes, only through experience, will we understand. get their great meaning. Perhaps, in order to summarize all of these valuable know-how, there will still be a lot of ink but the following 15 lessons can be considered as the most basic things that the younger generation needs to contemplate and apply every day.

1. Think carefully before speaking

Before every situation, always be wise with dedicated and careful words. Talking a lot doesn't really help but sometimes, talking less often helps you avoid many bad consequences. Try to "manage" your mouth well so you don't fall into trouble.

2. Meet the story without a hasty conclusion

Ancient people have taught: "Unstable speed". Even if you have the answer, do not rush to give an answer because you know there will be better solutions. Even if you have doubts, don't rush to conclude because what you think in your head is not correct. In each situation, put yourself at different angles to perceive the problem in many respects, especially in the case of a nuisance.

Sometimes, calmness and quietly watching things happen will help you get very unexpected solutions.

3. Think big and small

Learn how to turn big things into small, complex things into simple ones, don't turn small into big, turn trouble into what makes you lose faith in life.

4. Don't comment on others

Everything that happens has its reasons, nothing is "ungainly for nothing". So, don't comment on anyone or anything you don't understand. Even if you understand, don't interfere because you're not in their situation.

5. There is always a limit

It takes principles to do anything, even the thief knows what is absolutely impossible to steal . Can do your best, do it to the limit but don't do it well (Great paragraph). Just over the limit, what you can suffer will be immense, even post-production.

6. Don't accept a small person

Small people - every time has it and the best way is if it can't be reconciled, stay away. Teasing small people just makes you fall into trouble, even when you try to get along, they make more efforts to harm you.

7. Respect those who love you

Never ask why someone loves you, accept, respect and give them your heart. Also, not because their feelings for you take advantage of it to deceive, benefit or do anything that makes that loving string become fragile. Even if there are defects, they are still invaluable gifts that you can't use money to buy.

8. Must let go

Hold it up, get it down. The way of life is not lacking in sublimation but it is not at all bumpy, it is important that each of us must accept, give up what no longer belongs to us and keep that calm mind to overcome everything. There is certainly nothing too bad because you don't know what the future will happen. Having the courage to hold it up, must also have the will to lower it.

1. When life is too difficult, remember these 10 sentences

9. No distinction

There are good conditions to meet good people - fortunately, everyone likes but not because of that, meeting unreasonable people, having shortcomings or unhappy things, we differentiate and cherish fate. The world has over 7 billion people and anyone who goes through your life is an "intention" of creation. Don't distinguish anyone you meet, even if it's just a momentary moment.

10. Don't let job disadvantages affect your family

Work is your own space - where you create, devote and do what you like. Therefore, there is no reason why family members have to suffer from your frustration, discomfort or trouble related to the job. You can share but don't lose control of your emotions when you come home from work. Be responsible for both family and career.

11. Don't be fooled and don't fool others

Tricking others and sooner or later, you will be tricked yourself. Improve your knowledge and good qualities to avoid the pitiful pitfalls.

12. Women must also take care of their careers

The whole world is calling for gender equality. That means, you are also a member who is responsible for building your family, economically, not merely as a household. In fact, a woman who works both at home and passion will always feel a meaningful life, understand her life and be beautiful in every way.

13. Do not stop learning

The world is large and there are so many wonderful things out there that in the current tight space, you don't know. So try to enrich your knowledge because it will help you both at work, take care of your children, keep your family happy and not be outdated.

14. Clean

Clean, though well-know-but not everyone remembers to do. Keeping yourself clean will make it easier for you to impress others. It is not necessary to wear expensive clothes, but the hair and clothes are neat and everything we need to remember.

15. Don't brag when you're not successful

You can share with your friends and relatives about your plans, but don't be too happy and proud of the results that you can only achieve. Especially do not do this in front of colleagues and manage. If you succeed, no need to say, the people around you know.

You finished reading the article "15 invaluable lessons are drawn from the experience of the ancients" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.