

15 sayings that are capable of killing your love

Let us remember the 15 sentences that can kill your love in the article below!

1. Put away the 9 statements below, if you don't want the listener to feel uncomfortable!
2. If you are a happy and successful person, never say 10 sentences!
3. Top 20 best inspirational quotes from the world's leading founders

Surely all of us know the thoughts of men and women are often very different, from a very simple story but both have two ways of completely opposite. So when women ask a certain question that may have a lot of implications behind you, you have to be a very subtle person to be able to recognize it.

However, not every man has enough experience to understand what you say so you have to be cautious as well as sympathetic when they don't fully understand the thoughts in that sentence. Let us remember the 15 sentences that can kill your love in the article below!

'I am fine'

© BRIGHTSIDE

In most cases, when a girl says ' I'm alright ', she's actually not okay at all. However, in fact, not all boys are psychologically able to realize that problem, they can ignore it and ignore it while she will suffer more, which leads to quarreling and the situation becomes so stressful. Therefore, to solve the problem you just need to honestly say your feelings , sincerity will help your relationship become more easily shared and more attached.

'Why don't you have a lover?'

When you ask this question, you probably won't get the correct answer, or even get an answer. Why? Because it's possible that the guy is secretly liking you or they don't want to reveal it to you. Therefore, you have to be very careful when asking your close friends or colleagues because what if they have feelings for you? Moreover, you should also be prepared to mentally accept the answer: "Because you don't want to date me".

'Are you getting fat?'

You should ask your sister or your mother this question instead of a certain guy. In this case, any guy will answer dishonestly because they know you need a compliment from them. Therefore, such sensitive questions should be subtle when choosing the questioner to get the most accurate answer .

"I don't need your help, I can do it myself"

You may be able to work independently but if there is someone who intends to help you, you should choose to refuse skillfully, or if you cooperate with them, the job will quickly complete. more. Because when you say "I don't need your help, I can do it myself" inadvertently insulting your partner. It is simply that you really try to do better in tightening screws, washing dishes or ties, for example.

'Is it nice to wear this dress?'

You know when you ask sensitive questions about looks, you can't guarantee you'll get the most accurate answer from a man. Just like the question ' Are you getting fat? 'so. Because they will choose the answer that makes you feel the most satisfied ( at least the ones you want to hear ). They know you want to hear the sweetest statement and not the most honest sentence.

'What are you thinking?'

When you ask her about their current thoughts, you will probably want him to say that he is thinking about you right? But you should not be disappointed if the answer is not what you meant . Because besides you, he has a lot of things to think about. Just like you. Usually adult men will share their feelings less so you should not put him in a dilemma.

'My ex has also done this!'

It is not good to compare one person to another . In particular, comparing your current lover to an ex-lover is a very wrong thing, which can kill your relationship at any time. So, be subtle in how to handle situations if you don't want your emotions to break.

'Are you sure what you're doing?'

People are not perfect, one is willing to try any job, no matter how hard it is, you should appreciate that feeling, not doubting him. Men do not want me to be inferior in my woman's eyes, even if he himself is really unsure about what he is doing. He simply wants you to trust him!

'Did you notice any difference?'

This is not just a question but also what the girl wants her to realize her change. However, in fact men often do not pay attention to the small details - which are really important for every girl. Therefore, you should be prepared that the answer will not be as expected because not everyone is delicate enough to realize it. Try setting the case that you only change the lipstick or dye the hair ( deeper color ), then you can't make him realize those small things. Do not because of negative personal thoughts that affect the feelings of two people.

'Can you try it?'

You want to try the food that you have previously rejected? That will bring an unpleasant feeling to the person because of your dull attitude. Not that man is greedy and small, but you should also be prepared to accept the rejection because of your confusing requirements . And like the girls who know the saying ' Do you only take a bite? 'Can easily become' Sorry, I accidentally ate 2/3 of your meals '.

'Can't you understand?'

If someone wants to share a problem with you and you disregard their feelings, is it like you throw a cold water on their faces? How would you feel if you were in that situation?

'Who texted you?'

Everyone has their own relationships and wants to have a free space of their own, not always being controlled and angry by unreasonable things. It is your own jealousy and excessive curiosity that will kill your current relationship.

'Is she pretty?'

This is a trap that women create for their boys. Maybe that girl is very pretty but she still has to reluctantly answer that no. Because they know that if they agree, what he is about to receive will be a mess of emotions from you. Even if you feel satisfied, it is just a question of sincerity from him. So, don't ask these useless words after that!

'Men are like everyone!'

In fact, not all men and women in the world are the same. Each of us has our own principles, interests, thoughts and feelings. Your boyfriend or husband likes something that most men in the world like, don't include him in that group. Because after all, why did you choose him in thousands of similar men? Remember that you cannot force other people's emotions and that will kill your relationship.

'We need to talk to each other'

When you say, " We need to talk to each other " he will probably think about negative issues soon after. Maybe you just want to talk about weekend plans, but he thinks about the argument going on. So you have to rely on the situation to make the most reasonable and subtle offer .

See also: 9 statements that smart people never use in everyday communication

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "15 sayings that are capable of killing your love" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.