

15 sentences from French President Emmanuel Macron inspire those who dare to change

As the youngest head of France since Napoleon, President Emmanuel Macron impressed everyone because the statements contained valuable lessons for those who wanted to change themselves, even turning around. gender.

In the recent French presidential election, candidate Emmanuel Macron was the winner and became the youngest French leader in history since Napoleon. He will also be the youngest leader of a country in the G7.

Becoming a President at the age of 40, immature and with little political experience so Emmanuel Macron encountered many obstacles by two of France's largest political parties. But in return Macron is a person who lives emotionally and has thought through his words and decisions. Many of the President's sayings have become a passionate fire, inspiring many people, especially young people who want to change themselves and the world like Emmanuel Macron.

1. The message I want to remind you is: Be creative, be thirsty. Thinking about wider issues, think about the future not far.

2. Self-isolation is self-destructive. We are not isolated from the world. The world is knocking on our door.

3. I don't have fancy hobbies or luxury needs, but independence is worth it for me.

4. When politics is no longer a task but becomes a profession, politicians serve themselves more than serve the people.

5. I came from "Left wing", but I'm happy to work with people from "Right wing".

6. We need people who dare to dream impossible things. May fail or succeed but at least they dare to be ambitious

7. The best way to become fit is to work.

8. I believe in personal ideas, courage and dare to face my own risks.

9. I can see the future of my country. And I can't sit there and watch time pass.

10. We cannot solve problems completely if only grumbling and ignoring evil.

11. When learning about the lives of entrepreneurs and business people, I know it's an art.

12. When circumstances change, we have no choice but to change ourselves.

13. I always try, give new options, motivate things to be . If you want to succeed, you can't work half-heartedly.

14. For a patient, skilled doctors, whether based in Brussels or Paris, draw similar conclusions and prescribe similar prescriptions.

15. If you don't invest (both intellect, effort and money), you won't have anything.

You finished reading the article "15 sentences from French President Emmanuel Macron inspire those who dare to change" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.