

16 lessons for business people, lesson 15 must be startling

If you have business skills, you can make money. Skills, lessons for business people as a perfect money printer!

Most people say they fail because of lack of money and no business skills. According to Robert Kiyosaki, the most important cause of business failure is because they lack the most important skills an entrepreneur needs. If you have business skills, you can make money. Skills to trade it like a perfect money printer!

Skills - expensive lessons for business people:

Lesson 1

He loved her from the time she was fifteen sixteen years old. Both sneaking around, interacting, stirring up their families, fleeing, threatening to die if not accepted. If the relationship lasts for a year, called delinquency, enticing minors, there is a risk of going to court. If that love lasts for three years, it is called love theft, love is wrong. If the love lasts for six or seven years, it will be called true love, crossing the mountain and climbing through many difficulties to love each other.

Conclusion: It doesn't matter what you do, it's important that you do it in . how long!

Lesson 2

A girl who sells flowers if she works overnight with a boatman or works in a province, is called a social object. If overnight with the great giant, it is called the long leg. If you spend the night with a star pitch or silver screen, it will be decent to tell the story of 'careers' and expose the image of flesh between the public, no one intends to arrest her.

Conclusion: It doesn't matter what you do, it's important to whom you do it!

Lesson 3

Public baths suddenly became short-circuited, causing huge fires, countless sisters running out to the street without wearing anything. Smart girls are people who don't cover their bodies with their hands, but cover their faces with their hands.

Conclusion: Pay attention to the bottom line of every problem.

Lesson 4

A girl who ran to the police station accused her: 'I was careful to put money in my bra, but the handsome guy standing beside me on the crowded bus took my money away!'. The police were surprised: 'Why can it take money to be in such a sensitive position, that you didn't find out?'

The girl who choked sobbed: 'Who expected it to just want to make money?'

Conclusion: A talented businessman is the one who can steal customers' money while making customers happy.

Lesson 5

A small bird flew south to avoid cold. It was so cold that the bird was hardened and fell into a large field. While it was lying there, a cow passed through its body. The bird in the middle of the cow dung realized that it was warming. The pile of compost has warmed it. He lay there feeling warm and happy, and he began to make love songs. A cat walked by, listening to the birds singing and listening. Following the sound, the cat discovers the bird in the dung, he pulls the bird out to eat.

Bloody lesson:

1. not everyone "goes heavy" on the person he is also his enemy
2. Not everyone who pulls me out of the pile is also my friend

Lesson No. 6

A male monk offered to invite a female monk to carpool. The female enters the car, sits cross-legged to reveal one side of the calf. The man almost caused an accident. After adjusting the steering wheel, the man poked his fingers around the female thighs. Female calls: 'Please remember the commandment 129 ?'. Nam immediately removed his hand. But after entering the number, men continue to touch the female legs. Once again the woman said: 'Please remember the commandment 129 ?'. Nam shy: 'sorry female, I'm so mundane'. When she arrived, she sighed and left.

As soon as he arrived at the monk's house, the man rushed to the library to look up the 129 commandment immediately, seeing the theme: 'Go ahead, search, further, I will find the aura.'

Bloody lesson: If you do not know the information in your work, you will miss a great opportunity.

Lesson No. 7

The husband took a shower after his wife had just finished bathing, just as the doorbell rang. The wife quickly wrapped her towel in and ran down to open the door. The door is open, it is the neighbor Bob. Before his wife could say anything, Bob said: I will give you 800 dollars if you let go of the towel. Think about it for a moment and the wife let go of the towel, standing naked in front of Bob. After a few seconds of watching, Bob gave 800 dollars to his wife and left. The wife wrapped her towel in her body and went to the house.

- In the bathroom, the husband asked: Who is it?
- Wife: Mr. Bob neighbor.
- Good husband. So what did he say to the amount of 800 dollars he owed you?

Bloody lesson: If you exchange credit information with your shareholders in time, you can prevent the 'expose'.

Lesson 8

The company's cleaning staff is very sad because gentlemen are often absent-minded when going to the toilet. In order to solve the yellow puddles under the toilette floor, the company stuck on the wall, the top of the male toilet with a sheet of paper: 'No cottage to show you are short, urinate out of the pot to show that you are .

depressed! . From the next day, male toilette was clean and there were no more distracted gentlemen.

Conclusion: Prove to customers the problem in a specific, impressive way.

Lesson 9

Her parents-in-law opened the auditions. He said, the account has a million dollars. Guy B shows off, has a two million dollar villa. Her parents seemed to be very happy. Mr. C said, I don't have anything, sir. I have only one child, currently in your daughter's belly!

Conclusion: If you want to compete with your opponent, you need to have hands in!

Lesson 10

The two pigeons were empty and the roof spoiled the grain, and the two were very happy. Meet the dry season, grain grain back. The drum sees the nest coming and blaming the awkward eating. The female argued and was killed by the drum. A few days later, it rained down, the grain was soaked in water and expanded. The pigeons are blank.

Lesson learned: employee 'meat' does not make you look smarter.

Lesson 11

One king was tired of the court, so he bought a monkey to bring back. The monkey did a great job, so he was favored by the king, going everywhere to bring it, to wear clothes, to give the sword to keep. One day, the king went to the royal garden. Have bee king landed on the head. Monkey wants to chase bees, grab swords aimed at bees and slash. The king died.

Lesson learned: empowering those who have no capacity must always be vigilant.

Lesson No. 12

The crow saw that the dog was so good at the bone, and then he took the dose to slaughter the dog. Unexpectedly, the dog quit running to leave the bone. Crows grab a bone but it is too heavy to tolerate. The dog, after recovering, saw the attacker as a raven, so he came back and hit a owl, the crows died fresh.

Lesson learned: don't take the market if you know you can't keep it.

Lesson No. 13

The three evil beasts are wolves, bears and foxes of bullying. The first goat said, "I should invite one of the three wolves, bears or foxes to be our leader." The whole group of goats were unhappy, but the three "hung gods" heard this news very happy. So they turned to scramble for leadership, eventually using traps to kill wolves and bears. But then it alone no longer bully the goat herd.

Lesson learned: be careful when you hear that you're about to be a boss!

Lesson No. 14

A salesman, an administrative clerk and a management boss went out to lunch together, they caught an old lamp. They rubbed their hands on the lights and the genie appeared. The genie said: 'I give you each one a wish'. I first! I first! - The administrative secretary quickly said: I want to drive in Bahamas to drive a car and forget all my life. Soaring. The secretary disappeared. Me! Me! The clerk said: I want to stay in Hawaii on the beach with my own massage staff, endless supply of Pina Coladas and with a hundred year lover. Soaring. He salesman disappeared. Ok it's your turn. The genie told him to manage. The manager said: I want them to be at the office immediately after lunch.

Blood lessons: always let the boss speak first.

Lesson No. 15

An eagle is parked on a tree resting, doing nothing. The rabbit saw that and asked: Can I sit down and do nothing like you? The eagle replied: Yes, why not. So the rabbit sat down on the tree to rest. Suddenly a fox appeared, grabbed the rabbit and ate it.

Bloody lesson: to be sitting without doing anything, he must sit in a very high position.

Lesson No. 16

A turkey chatting with a cow:

'If only I could fly up the tree, I would love it, but I'm not strong enough,' the turkey sighed.

'Okay, why don't you taste my stool? It has a lot of complementary substances', the cow answered. The turkey pecked on cow dung and he saw that it was enough to fly to the lowest branch. The next day, eating cow dung, it flew up to the second branch. Finally, after the fourth night, the turkey was delighted to reach the top of the tree. It was immediately discovered by a farmer, who shot it to the ground.

Bloody lesson: foolishness can take you to the top but can't keep you there forever.

See more:

1. 15 life lessons should be known before turning 30

2. 11 successful business secrets of Tony Fernandes - AirAsia boss
3. 15 invaluable lessons are drawn from the experience of the ancients

You finished reading the article "16 lessons for business people, lesson 15 must be startling" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
