

17 jobs to help you stay home still make money

Making money is the need and also the driving force for most of us. In addition to working directly at offices, you can also find a job at home while ensuring a regular monthly, even, income is much worse than the 8 hours available. face at work!

1. 7 rules about money everyone needs to know
2. 13 best online money websites today
3. 19 passive ways to make money even when sleeping

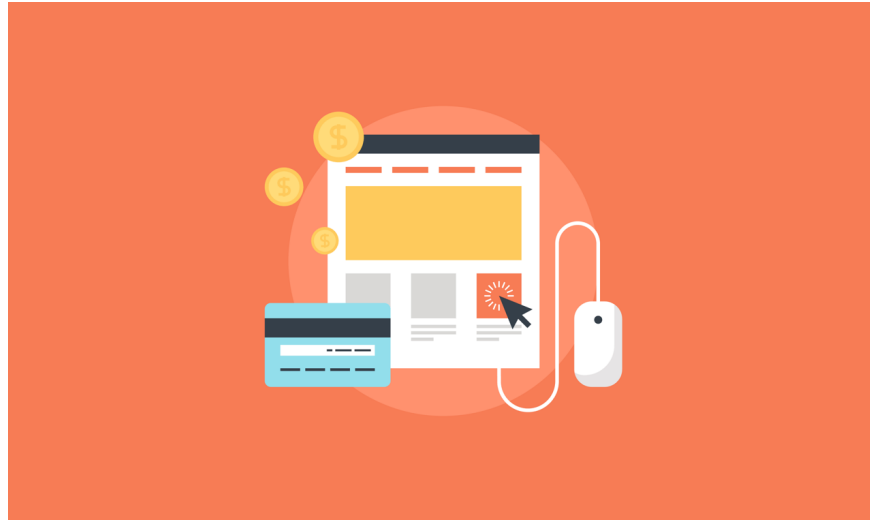

Making money is the need and also the driving force for most of us. In addition to working directly at offices, you can also find a job at home and still have a regular "monthly" or even "big" income. with 8 hours at work!

Here is a list of 17 passive income generation ideas that you can consult to choose the most suitable jobs for you. Remember, this is "passive income", meaning you can still do it even if you have an office job. This type of income always "makes money for you", doesn't need you to be present often and even if you "don't do", there's a steady flow of money.

1. Make YouTube videos

YouTube allows users to create videos about any area such as music, movie commentary, share ideas, funny videos, game reviews, tutorials, technical assistance .; then upload to YouTube and, if certain requirements are met, the video will be attached to Google AdSense and from here, ads will automatically be included in your video. If there are any viewers who click on these ads, you will earn money.

2. Affiliate marketing and sales

This way of making money is suitable for people who have their own blog or website running. At this point, you can register to promote certain products on your site and will be paid a fixed price or percentage of the amount of transactions done. When visitors visit your site visit these links, you receive money. Also, the ideal thing here is that the product / service you market is something you care about or relate directly to your website.

3. Share money making photos

If you like taking photos, take advantage of this to earn extra income. Photo sites like Shutterstock and iStockphoto will provide a platform for you to sell your photos without having to do a lot of complicated steps. Simply create a list of photos, post it on different platforms, then wait for the buyer and when any transactions are made, the owners of these sites will pay you. some money according to the contract.

4. Buy stocks with high dividends

By building a portfolio of high dividends, you can generate passive income with a much higher annual interest rate than depositing money in a bank.

5. Write an ebook

Writing is a hard work at first, but once you have completed the work and successfully promoted it, you will feel much more comfortable.

You can sell ebooks on your personal website or link to other websites to increase your ability to reach customers and promote your books to more users.

6. Sell products you make from the Internet

It may be your own product or digital product (such as software, DVD or instructional videos).

If you own a large number, you can design your own website for each type of product or service. In addition, you can sell in the form of links such as direct offers on websites or blogs with content related to your product or through another platform such as ClickBank.

7. Invest in real estate

Although real estate investment is a form of making money, it requires you to know about the profession, the market, be sensitive to information and have a big capital but when you are in real estate and renting, then this time The problem is just how to manage and make it profitable.

8. Buy a blog site

Every year thousands of blogs are created and not a few blogs are completely neglected. If possible, search for blogs with significant visitors, "refurbish" them, and take advantage of Google AdSense's built-in features to earn additional revenue.

From a financial perspective, blogs are often sold for 24 times the monthly turnover. For example, if a page generates $ 250 a month, you should buy it at a maximum price of $ 3,000. Thus, investing 3,000 USD will bring you an income of 1500 USD / year.

9. Writing books and receiving royalties

Like other jobs, you have to spend a lot of effort at first, but once completed, this is a very good source of passive income.

This is even more true if you can sell the book to a publisher who agrees to pay royalties according to the distribution and sales of the book. At this point, you will receive a percentage of each book sold and when there are many buyers, the money will surprise you.

10. Create a specialized sales website

If you have a deep understanding of a product category, you can sell them on a specialized website and when successful, replicate this model to increase your income. Certainly, the amount of money you earn is much greater than going to the office.

11. Become a broker

Make a list of people who provide accounting, paper making and drinking services . that you are familiar with and feel able to recommend to others. You can then start contacting the unit directly to discuss the referral costs and from now on, when you find a new customer for them, you will receive the corresponding commission.

12. Room rental with Airbnb

Airbnb is a website that allows people to travel around and stay in houses at a much cheaper cost than a normal hotel. If you join Airbnb, you can use your home for rent and can earn quite a bit. Of course, that amount depends on the size, condition and location of the house.

13. Application development

Currently, smartphones have become so popular and the demand for downloading applications is increasing. You can take advantage of this trend by programming your own app for any platform, such as Android or iOS, then, perform procedures to upload to the app store and wait for the magic to happen. out.

However, to write applications, you must also have knowledge of programming, app design, capital and many other things.

Are you afraid of not programming? No problem, you can study online. If not, hire a programmer to create an application based on your idea. This may be an expensive option but the results will be much more professional.

14. Design online course

There are many ways you can build an online course and manage it effectively. The easy way is to use the Udemy.com website. Currently, this website has more than 8 million students and is one of the very good channels for you to promote your course to many people.

In terms of content, you can create videos, ebook books to complement lessons, audio files so that learners can listen on the go, expert interviews and more.

15. Create online tutorials

If writing is not your strong point, create videos and upload them to sharing channels like YouTube or social networks.

A good example is Pat Flynn's SecurityGuardTrainingHQ.com website. On this page, Flynn offers a US map that allows users to select any state to see the security requirements for that state.

By providing specific information in the form of instructions, you can make money with available facilities such as Google AdSense Ads or links .

16. Working outsource

If you are capable of doing a good job, why not use your skills to earn extra income? Of course, the ability to control the working time will be more difficult but you can still do it any time you like to get a decent income.

Some things you can do as freelancers like accounting, writing, web design, content editing, task management, social media marketing and more.

17. Make money from whatever you do

For example, InboxDollars allows you to earn money from gaming, online shopping, web search and many other activities! Swagbucks is also a similar form of money. Therefore, do not miss any opportunity to increase your own income.

You finished reading the article "17 jobs to help you stay home still make money" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.