

The best Mac apps in 2020

Although not the end of 2020, but from today I will summarize the applications I think are the best, most needed for Mac for the majority of people

Usually, the first thing you need when buying a new Macbook is to equip them with the most needed applications. So, below I will summarize and share to readers TOP 18 MAC applications, the most useful software for Mac users. If you are new to MAC OS X, I am sure this article will be useful for you!

There are dozens of tricks you can use to improve your own productivity and outlook, but if you're looking for a more objective, comprehensive fix, the best thing to do is equip your Mac with productivity apps designed to help you do more in less time.

1. Grammarly

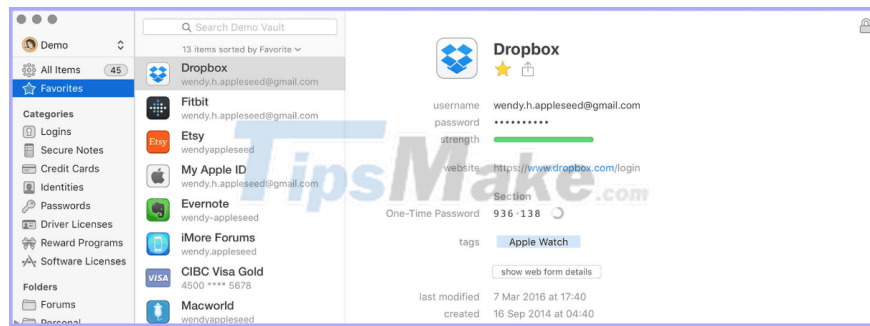

A spelling error or grammatical mistake can cost you big time. It could be the source of a worse grade on a big paper, or compromise your credibility in the workplace. Thankfully, Grammarly can help you.

This Mac-integrated writing assistant monitors all your writing and makes live corrections, so you're alerted to your potential mistakes before they become permanent.

A free version exists, but the premium version will cost you between $11 and $30 a month, depending on how you pay.

Download: Grammarly

2. 1Password

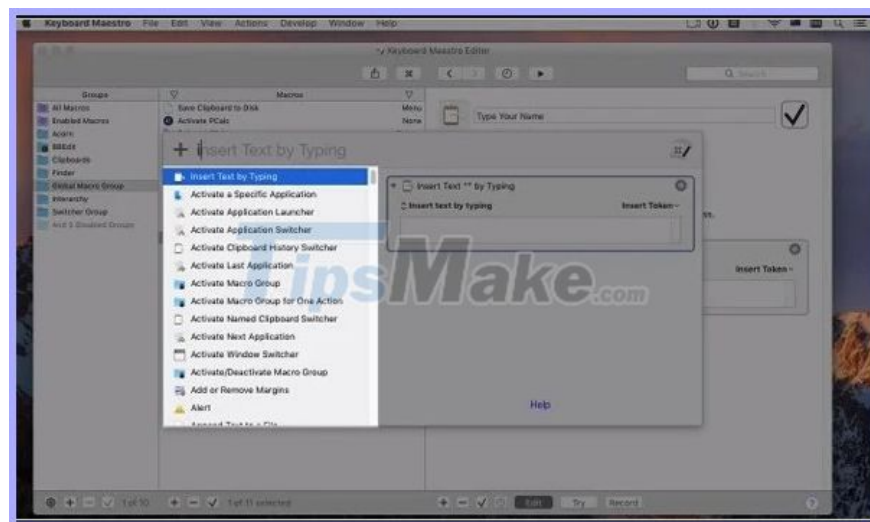

You may not realize it, but you probably spend a ton of time recalling your passwords, especially if and when you forget one to an app you use on a regular basis.

1Password is an app for Mac that saves and remembers all your passwords for you in one place, so you can access all your favorite sites with a single click.

You'll save time and keep all your accounts secure simultaneously. A personal plan is $2.99 per month.

Download: 1Password

3. Keyboard Maestro

Keyboard Maestro is an older app that still has the power to make your life easier. With it, you can automate any number of tasks based on a certain trigger (such as a hotkey combination, or an event like connecting to a wireless network). A single license only costs $36.

Download: Keyboard Maestro

4. MindNode

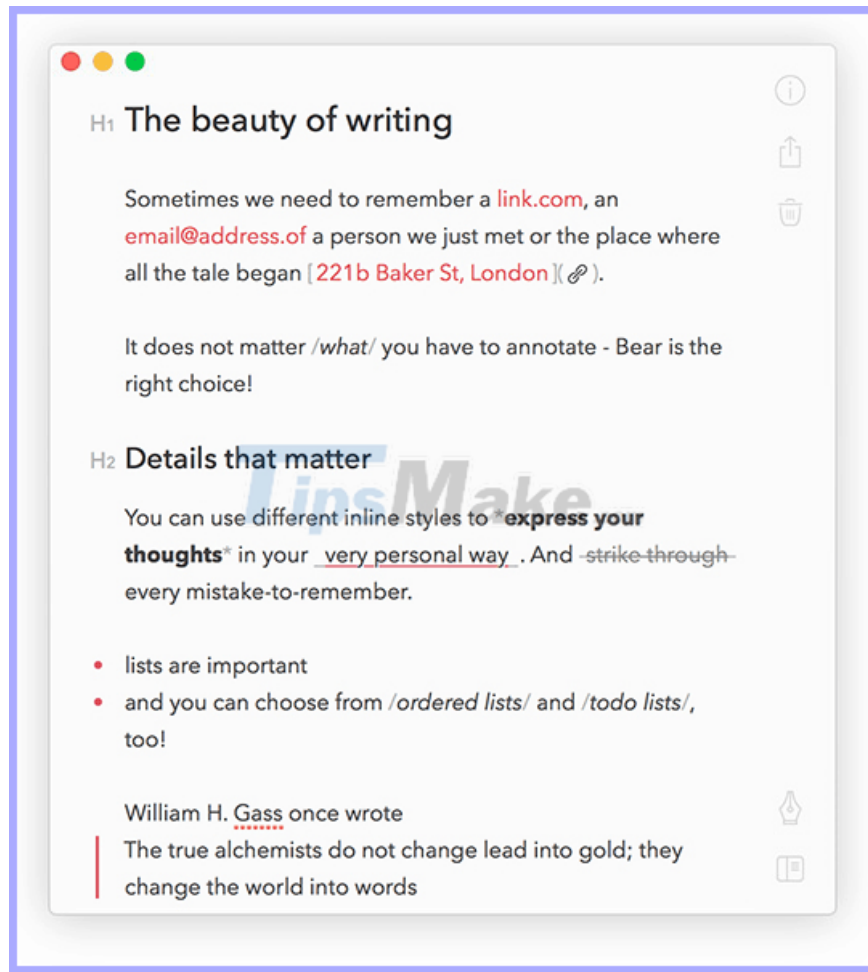

If you're the brainstorming type, you need an app like MindNode to help you efficiently organize your thoughts. There are dozens of tools you can use to connect ideas in a mind map, or simply jot down notes for future reference.

The core app is free, with in-app purchases available.

Download: MindNode

5. Bear

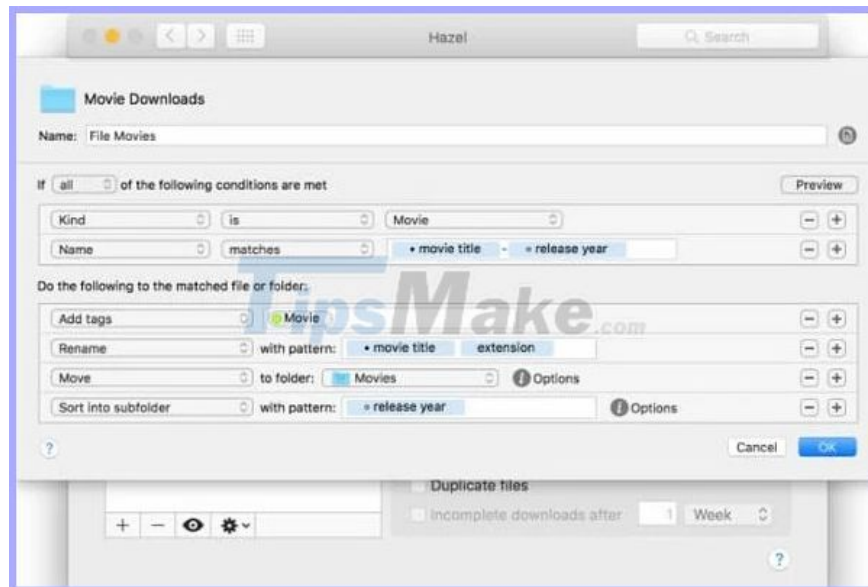

Bear is a unique kind of note-taking app designed to make it easier for Mac users to jot down notes on the go. With it, you can create to-do lists, give yourself reminders, and outline concepts for future brainstorming sessions.

It comes with many different inline styles so you can customize your notes to your personal preferences, and remember the context in which you wrote them. The core version is free, with a $14.99 per year version available as well.

Download: Bear

6. Hazel

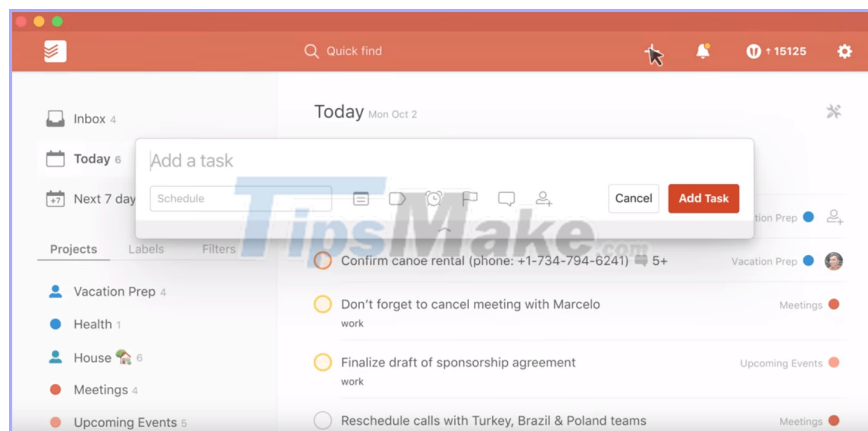

Hazel by noodlesoft is an automated organization tool designed for Mac that will help you automatically organize your files based on any custom rules you want to create.

For example, you can set it to move untouched items from one folder into another folder labeled 'action items' if they haven't been addressed within a week. It can save you hours of organization over the course of a few weeks. A single license is a flat $32.

Download: noodlesoft

7. Todoist

Available for all iOS devices, Todoist is a note-taking and organization app that can keep you on top of all your projects—both personal and professional.

Its best features are all free to use, including browser extensions, task creation, and interactive boards you can use to organize all your notes.

If you want to pay the optional $29 yearly fee, you can get even more advanced features like backups and automatic reminders. Even with the free version, you'll stay far more organized.

Download: Todoist

8. Alfred

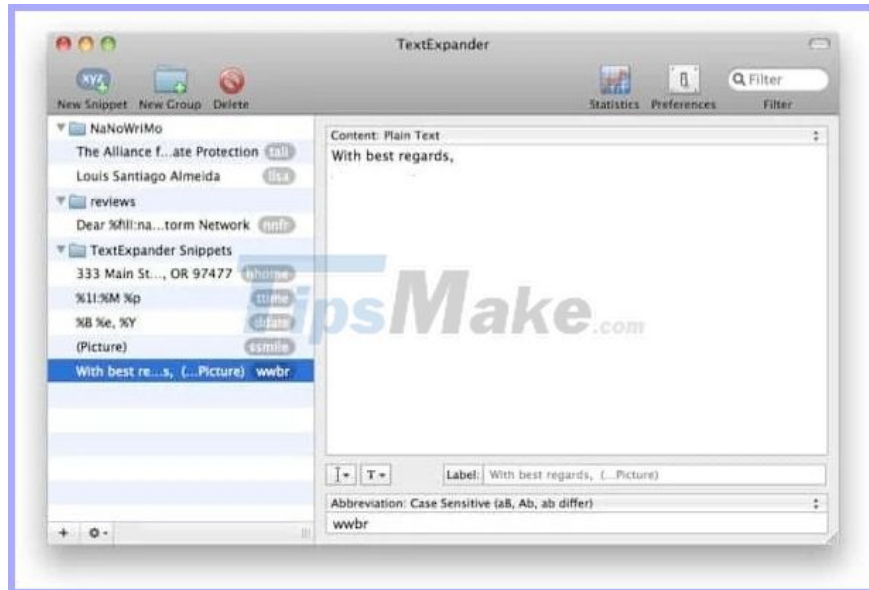

Alfred is an all-in-one app designed to save you time with Mac shortcuts and convenient custom actions. You can use it in a variety of ways.

For example, you can access Alfred's clipboard memory so you don't copy and paste the same material over and over, or set up custom workflows to automate some of your most repetitive tasks.

It's a paid app, with multiple price points based on the features you desire.

Download: Alfred

9. TextExpander

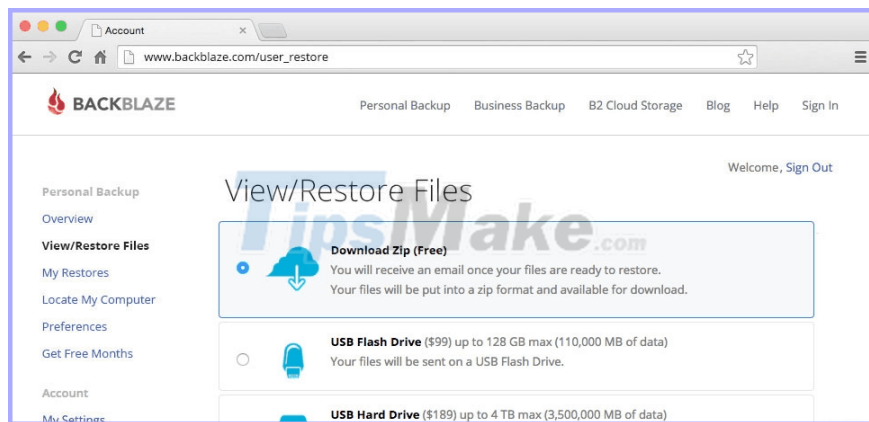

TextExpander does exactly what the name suggests; it allows you to type a short snippet of text, and expand that text automatically.

For example, you can create a custom expansion that allows you to conjure a full paragraph you type repeatedly by simply typing a unique abbreviation. Once you get used to your custom combinations, you'll spare your fingers from typing thousands of words.

An individual account is $3.33 per month.

Download: TextExpander

10. Backblaze

If you've ever experienced a crash, or theft of your Mac, you know how much time a system restore can cost you. You'll spend hours replacing the files you lost, and lose thousands of files that are irreplaceable.

Download: Bartender

13. Otter

Otter is the Mac app for the note taker who hates typing. It's an intelligent voice-recognition system and note-taking app that will help you transcribe your conversations, keep notes during meetings, and even take contextual notes to yourself in your own time.

Best of all, it's free to get started!

Download: Otter

14. Flux

Do you often find yourself feeling tired throughout the day, or feeling unable to get to sleep after a day of staring at your computer? That could be because of the unnatural blue light that radiates from your Mac.

Flux naturally adapts your display to emit light that matches the time of day, so you can sleep better and feel less tired. It's also free!

Download: Flux

15. PDFpen

If you deal with PDFs on a regular basis, you probably find yourself wishing for some kind of tool that can let you mark up those PDFs however you want. Without a dedicated app like PDFpen, this can be difficult.

PDFpen lets you edit PDFs in almost any conceivable way, giving you more power and saving you time. A single license is $74.95.

Download: Smile Software/PDFpen

16. OmniFocus

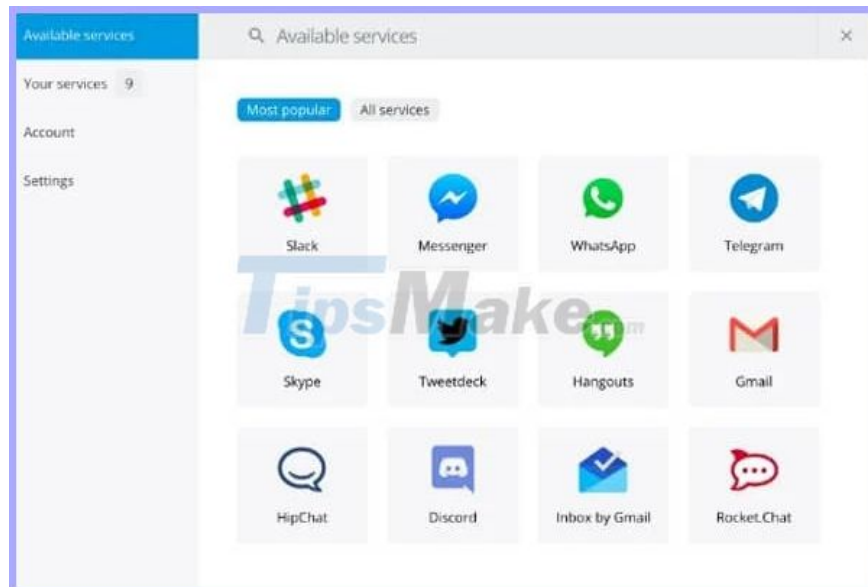

OmniFocus is all about task management. It has a clean interface that allows you to tag your tasks, schedule events, and even automate certain features.

It's one of the most comprehensive solutions on the market, so there's a bit of a learning curve to get the most out of it.

A standard license is $39.99, while the pro version is $79.99.

Download: OmniFocus

17. Franz

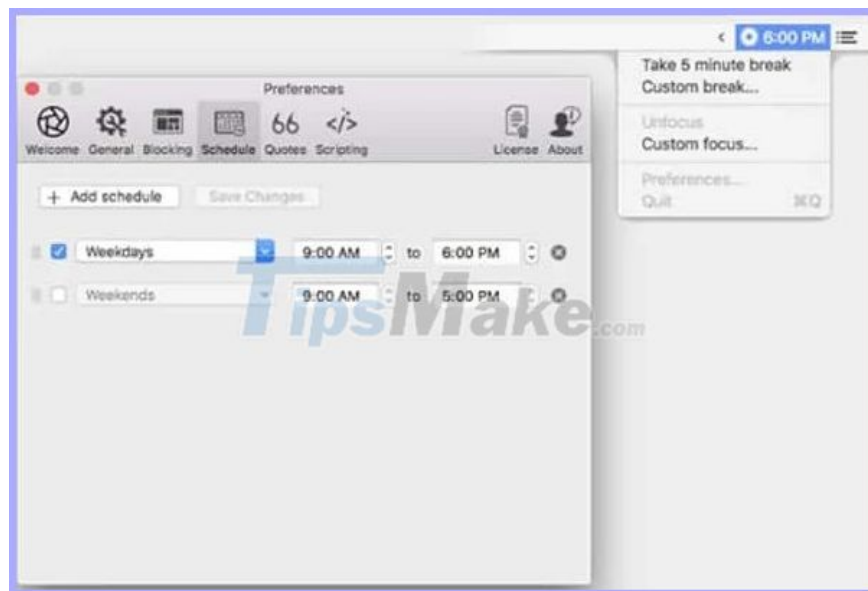

It's tiring to switch between dozens of different chat programs like Facebook Messenger, Slack, and WhatsApp, whenever you want to have a conversation with a different contact.

Franz's solution is simple; offer access to all these apps in one convenient package. And best of all, it's completely open source.

Download: Franz

18. Focus

The internet is a wonderful thing, but it can be awfully distracting. And if you're like the majority of us, you've interrupted work on a project because of some attention-grabbing site or bad online habit. That's where Focus comes in.

This app allows you to block the worst offenders with custom time limits and other constraints, so you can focus on the task at hand. A single license is $19.99.

Download: Focus

You finished reading the article "The best Mac apps in 2020" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.