

20 best YouTube channels for business lovers

Subscribe always and now!

YouTube is currently the largest video sharing and storage network on the planet with a wealth of interesting information and knowledge covering many areas that anyone should not ignore.

In the previous articles, TipsMake.com introduced to you some YouTube channels for those who like to explore science, technology and improve English every day. And continuing with this topic, the following section, readers will get 20 more YouTube channels that are equally interesting, especially for those who like to do business, start up with the sharing of Mark Fidelman published in the Journal. Forbes.

1. Marie Forleo - Maria TV

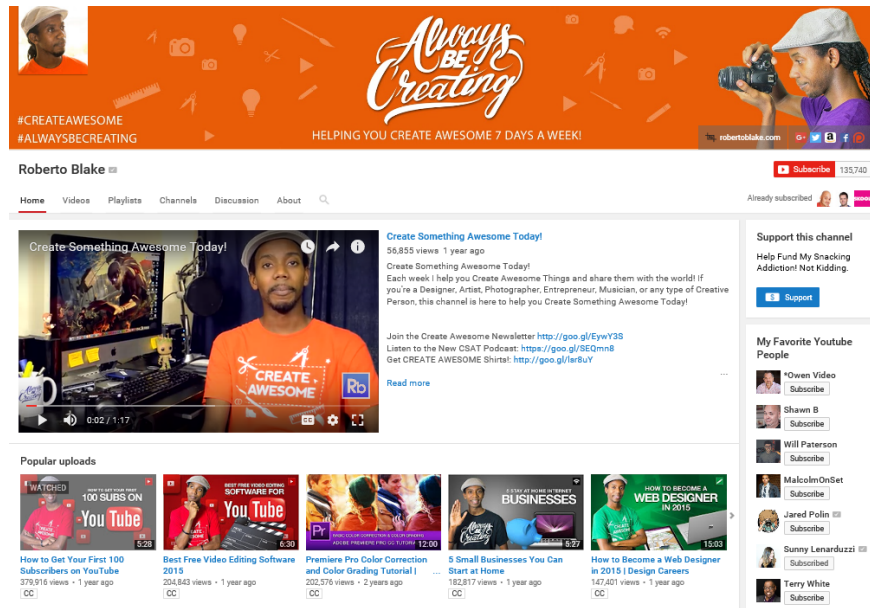

Marie TV is the YouTube channel of businesswoman Marie Forleo with helpful advice and sharing about life and work. With the message conveying to the audience that "the world needs a special talent that only you have", Marie TV is the ideal destination for those who want more motivation, inspiration and enthusiasm to work. everyday.

Currently, Marie TV has nearly 300,000 subscribers and regularly updates new videos. This YouTube channel is also constantly featuring guests who are celebrities like Elizabeth Gilbert or Tony Robbins.

2. Roberto Blake

The first highlight when talking about Roberto Blake is that he lives in line with the motto that he has set: "Always be Creating" - always creative.

Blake constantly publishes daily videos focusing on graphic design, photography, social media, unboxing videos ("boxy" videos to provide users with detailed, interesting and new information. about a new product launch, vlog and many other things.

In addition, Blake's videos are also unique, regardless of whether they are recorded on New York City streets or when he is sitting at the office with a front camera.

Currently, Roberto Blake has about 136 thousand subscribers and is ideal for those who are looking for the most practical business advice.

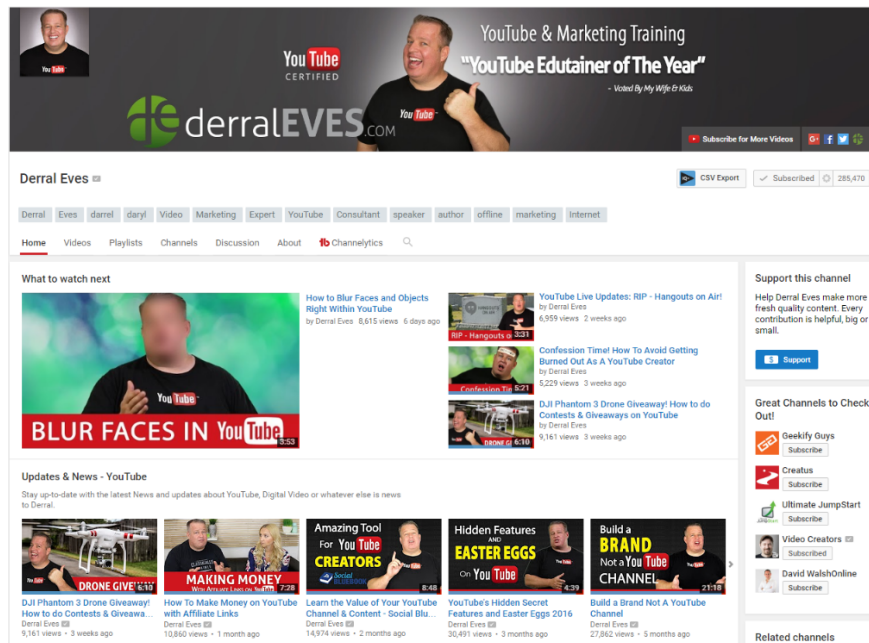

3. Video Influencers

Sean Cannell and Benji Travis are two talented young entrepreneurs. Their YouTube channel will provide you with useful information on how to use videos to build a personal brand, influence, impact others and make money from these activities.

Video Influencers will give you the opportunity to learn the secrets of the most successful YouTuber, creators and entrepreneurs. So don't miss!

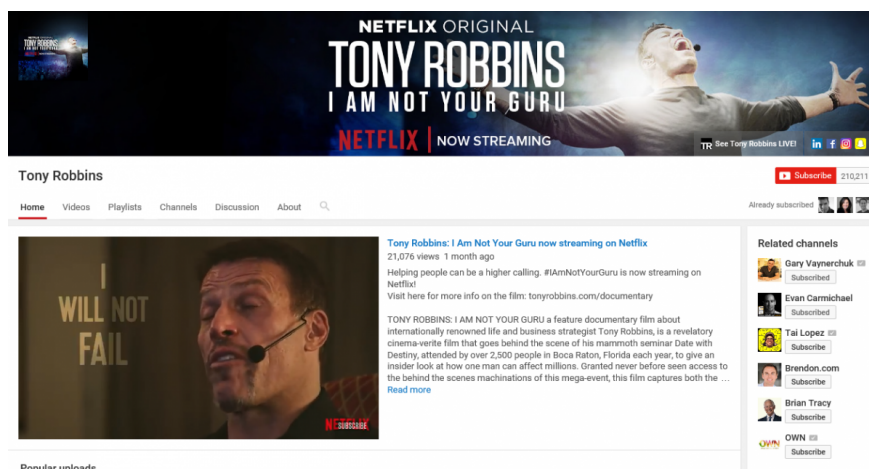

4. Derral Eves

Although quite young, Eves owns a YouTube channel that is classified as "the oldest" on this social network (Derral Eves Channel was born in 2006). Eves directs content primarily to video marketing but also mentions a number of other issues such as online marketing, traffic building and strategies to increase conversion rates.

5. Tony Robbins

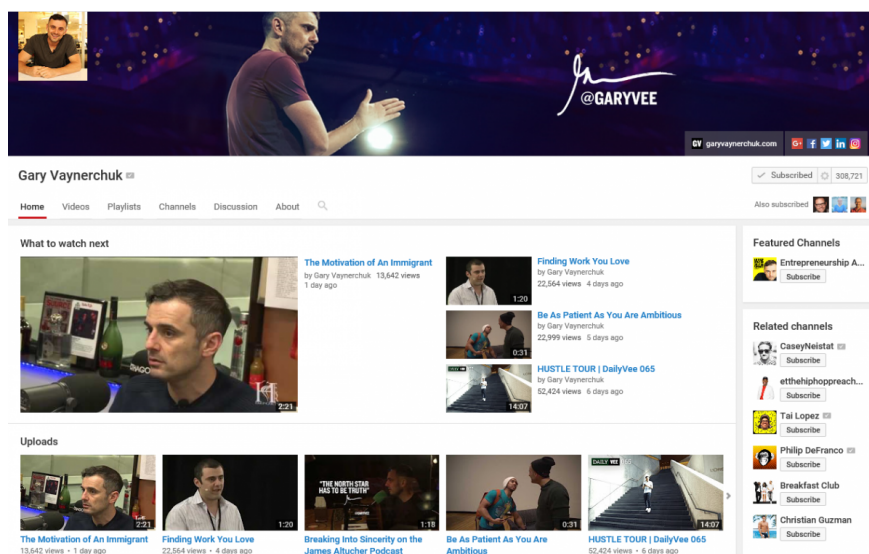

Tony Robbins is one of the leading speakers in the world so his YouTube channel probably doesn't need to describe too much.

This YouTube channel will give you lots of precious "gifts", including business, financial advice and motivation. If you have the time and patience, explore Tony Robbins Channel and you'll find that what you spend is not wasted.

6. Gary Vaynerchuk

Gary Vaynerchuk is one of the YouTube channels that has a huge number of subscribers. Please subscribe to this channel right away if you need start-up advice and new perspectives on social issues.

7. Robin Sharma

Robin Sharma has sold 15 best-selling books about leadership, collaboration with big companies like GE, Nike, Microsoft, and also the founder of Sharma Leadership International. Similar to Maria Forleo, YouTube channel Robin Sharma also provides many useful personal development tips for startups.

Full of personal experience and interesting information are the top factors that make this YouTube channel receive more than 190 thousand entries and sure, this number will not stop. Finding your passion, doing the best you can, the success and popularity that will come to you is the message Robin Sharma sends to the loyal audience.

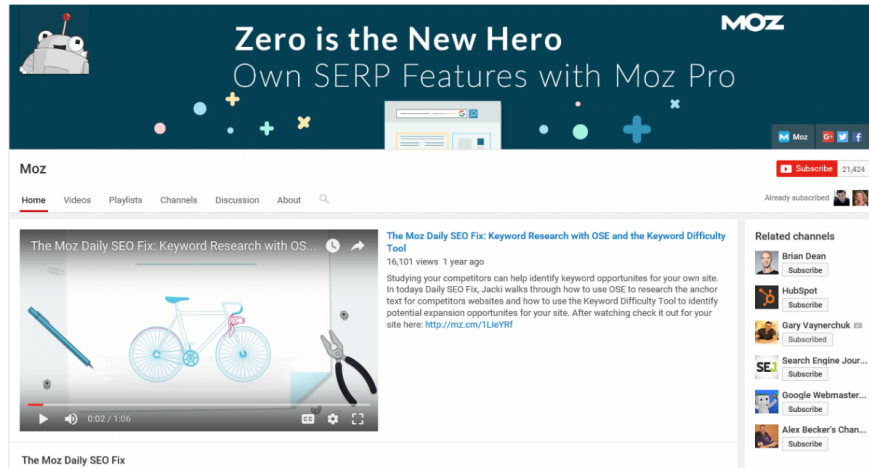

8. Behind the Brand with Bryan Elliott

Bryan Elliot will bring you video interviews with startup founders, business professionals, popular YouTuber and executives "C" with a lot of insight about business that you never knew.

9. Moz with Rand Fishkin

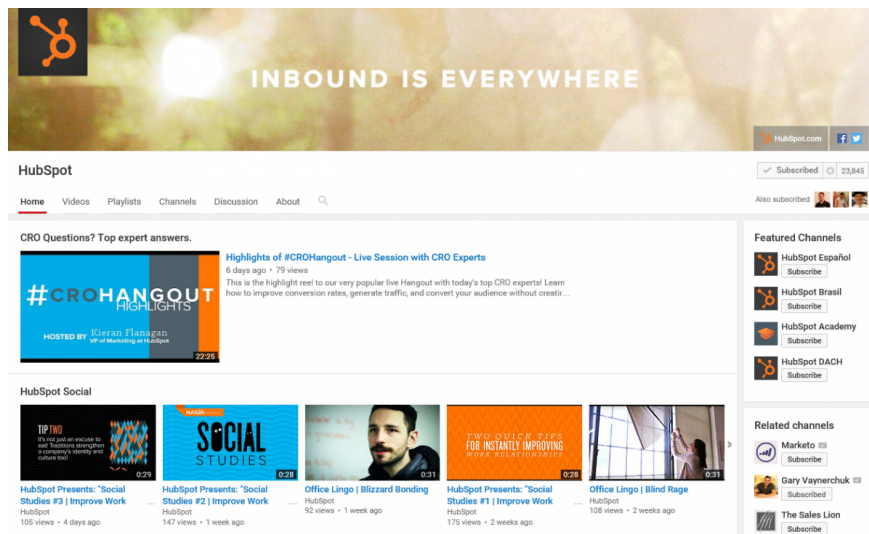

Rand Fishkin - Moz's CEO (website specializing in providing tools, software and resources to improve SEO marketing activities of businesses) is the owner of this YouTube channel.

What makes Moz so impressive is the way that Fishkin simplifies complex SEO knowledge to help viewers understand exactly this area. Besides, he also conveys a message that you can completely build a famous brand and attract users without the need for modern tools.

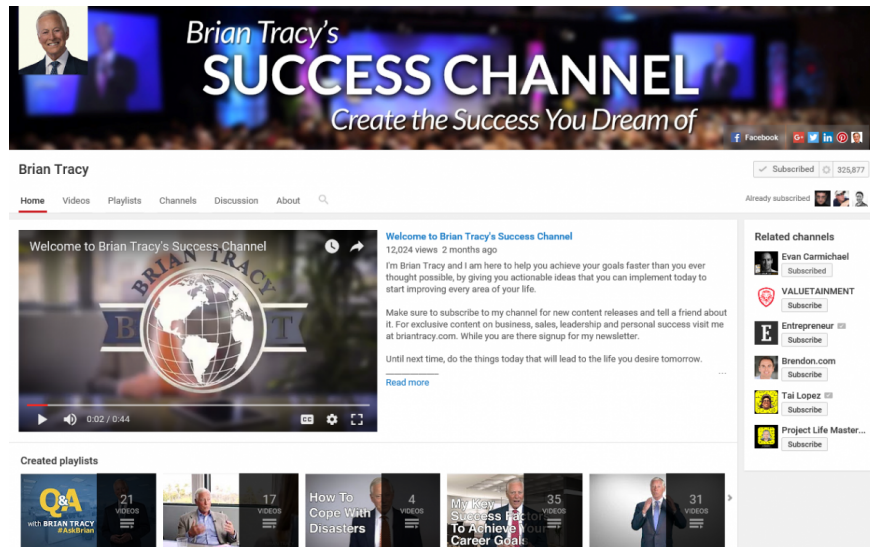

10. Hubspot

Hubspot is a marketing and business portal that is very familiar to many people. So, its YouTube channel is not too strange.

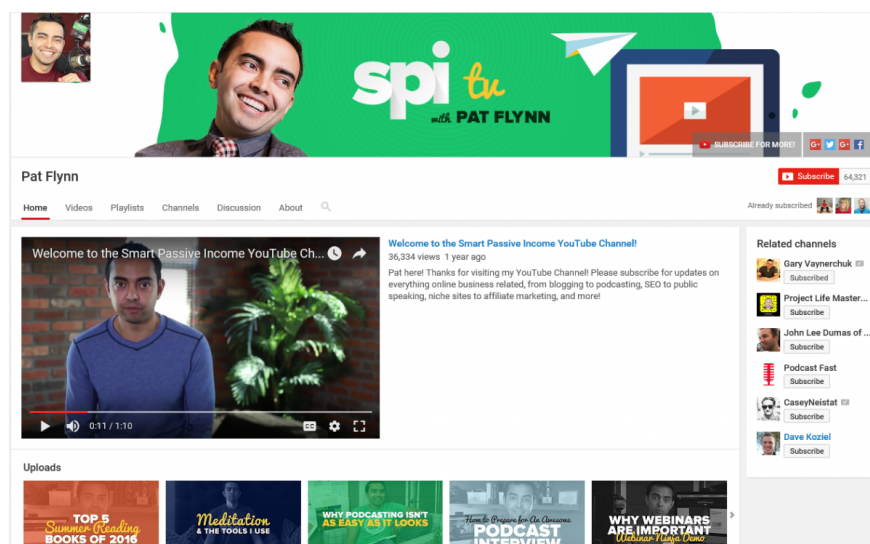

Currently, Hubspot Channel has more than 24,000 subscribers with at least 3 new videos uploaded each week.

11. Brian Tracy

One of the YouTuber that you should not miss is Brian Tracy. Famous for being a speaker on leadership, sales, business strategy and author of many personal development titles, Brian Tracy is a valuable resource for entrepreneurs.

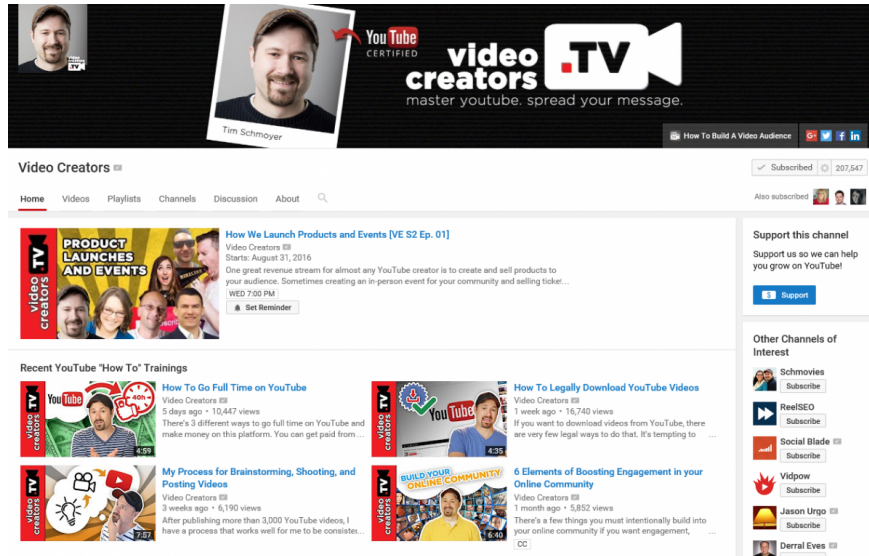

12. Pat Flynn

Pat Flynn is a YouTube channel that will provide you with practical and very stimulating stimulation tips. Through sharing personal experiences, Flynn has provided viewers with an interesting perspective on the field as well as a number of other topics such as entrepreneurship, marketing, webinars and meetings with Master's wisdom.

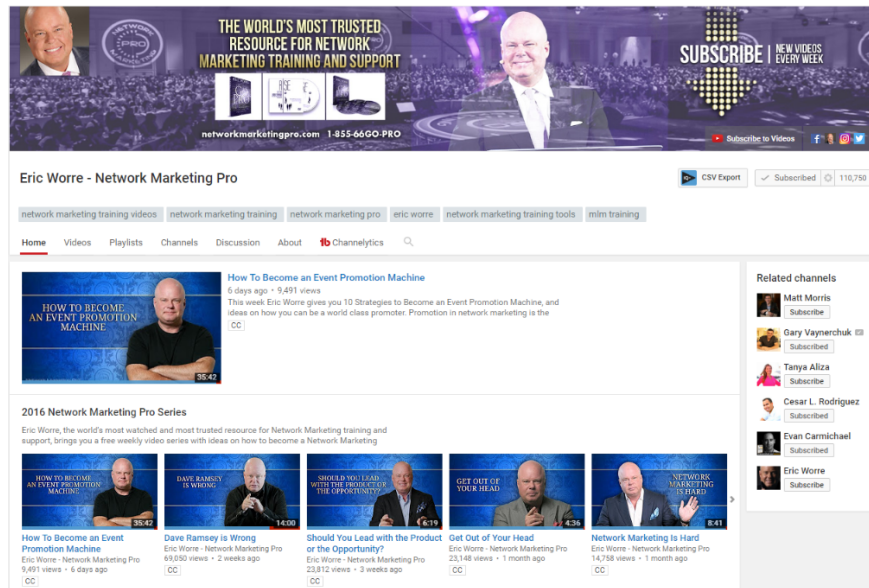

13. Video Creators (Tim Schmoyer)

Tim Schmoyer's YouTube channel focuses on helping individuals and businesses succeed on YouTube.

Currently, Video Creators Channel has attracted nearly 208 thousand registrations and is also a destination of many people who intend to develop their own YouTube channel.

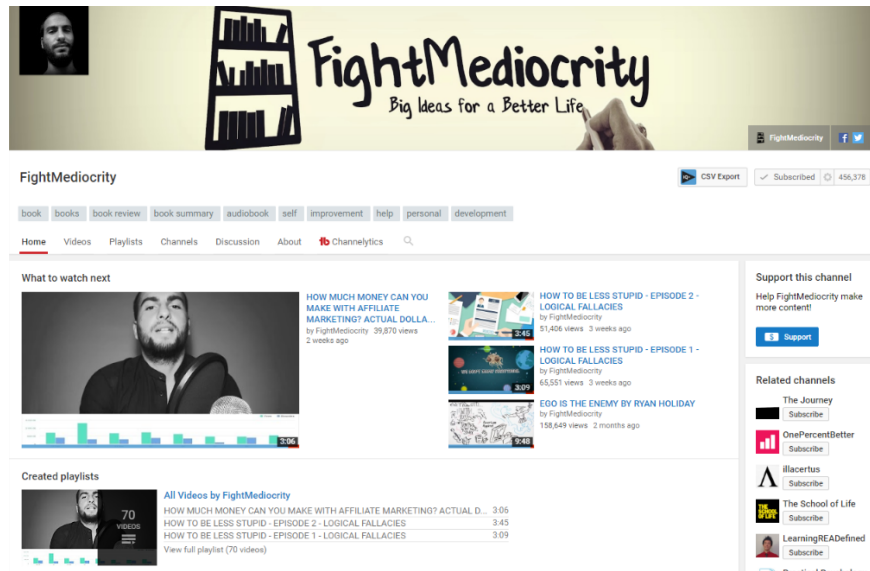

14. Eric Worre - Network Marketing Pro

Eric Worre set out for me a mission that is to change people's perception of Network Marketing, and offer advice to help network marketers do better their work.

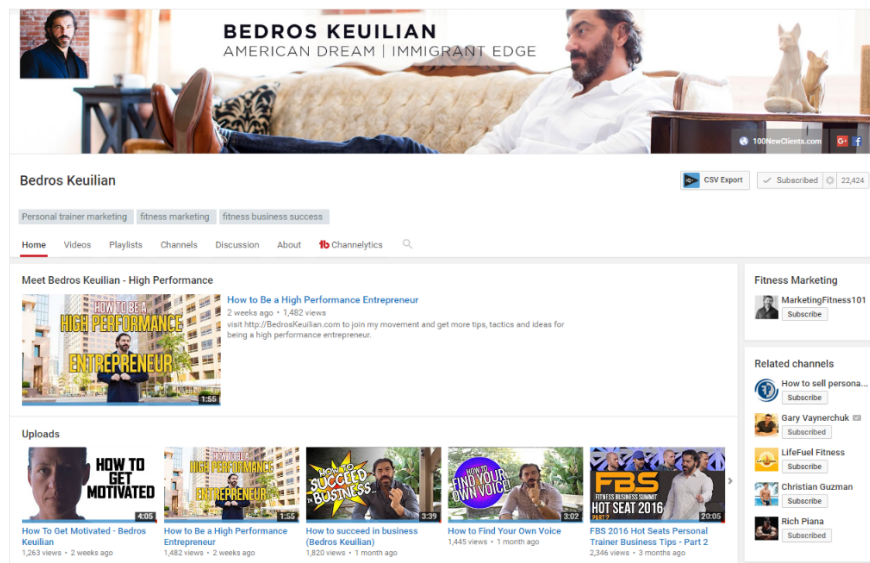

15. FightMediocrity

Malkhaz Geldiashvili turned the contents of the best-selling and business books into self-made animated videos. Thus, you will absorb ideas as well as remember them more easily.

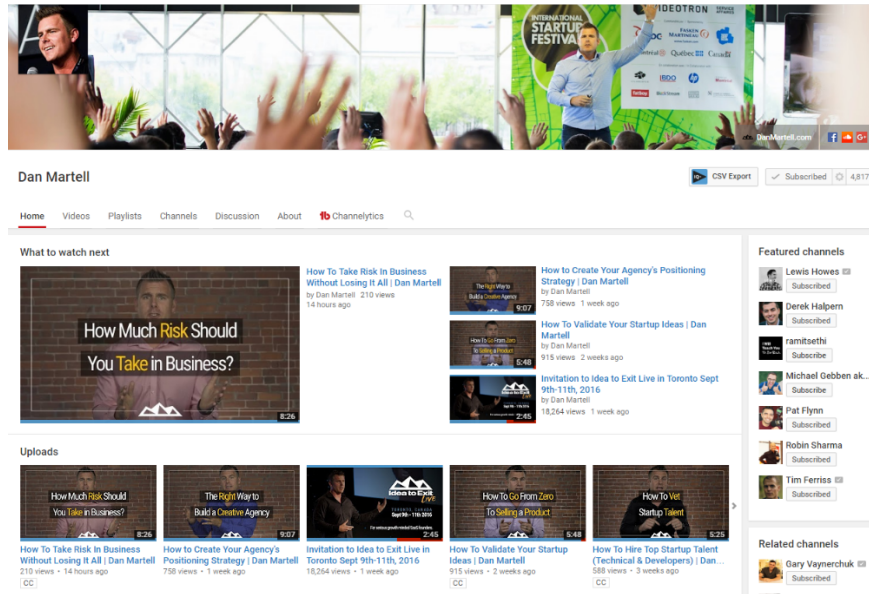

However, what makes the success of that Fight Mediocrity is that Geldiashvili's owner knows how to choose from three to four of the most important messages in each book, and the titles he chooses to illustrate with video are all incomparable. turn on. Currently, this YouTube channel has nearly 457 thousand registrations.

16. Bedros Keuilian

Bedros Keuilian's YouTube channel is aimed directly at viewers who are business owners and trainers in fitness and health care.

17. Dan Martell

Dan Martell is a successful Canadian businessman with lots of valuable experiences he is willing to share with the audience. Regardless of whether you need business or recruitment advice, Martell can assist you.

18. Sunny Lenarduzzi

Sunny Lenarduzzi can say a "born" YouTuber. Natural, humorous and informative is the reason why Lenarduzzi's videos have always had a large number of users reviewing it many times.

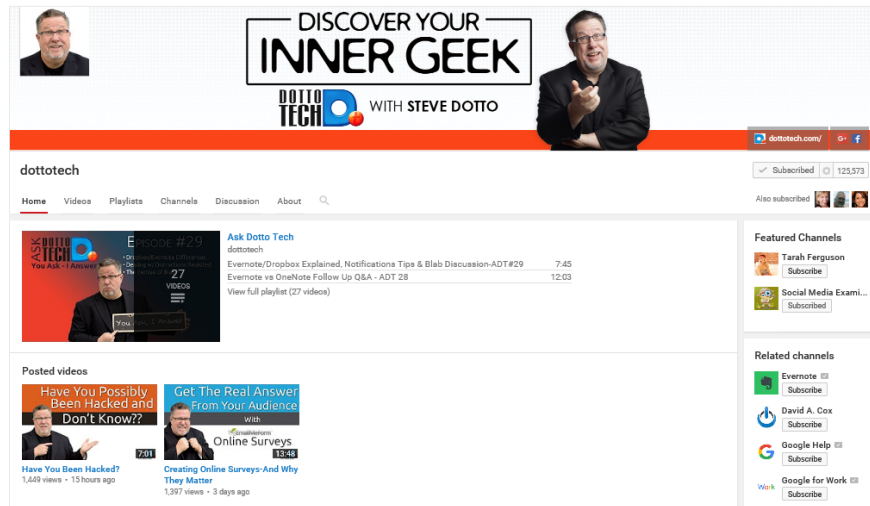

Sunny Lenarduzzi focuses mainly on marketing tips and currently has more than 49 thousand registered users.

Lenarduzzi's greatest message is to create content that is useful to potential users and let your true personality appeal to them, keeping them in touch with you.

19. Steve Dotto (dottotech)

Dotto aims to produce videos that show how to increase productivity, podcasts, webinars, computers and smart devices.

With 125,000 subscribers, Dotto's biggest attraction is his unique ability to analyze, clarify terms and products and make them very easy to understand.

20. Sue B. Zimmerman

Sue B. Zimmerman (also known as Instagram Gal) always knows how to connect with audiences with interesting content and highlights.

Although there are only 7,410 subscribers, this is really a Instagram master with lots of useful videos on how to use this largest photo sharing social network to market products.

You finished reading the article "20 best YouTube channels for business lovers" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
