Here are some new zombie types in PUBG Mobile 0.13.0 and how to deal with them

PUBG Mobile 0.13.0 version has been officially updated with lots of interesting content waiting for fans. Most notable is the DeathMatch regime for FPP and TPP, the game also updates the new Room Card so that players can create rooms themselves.

In addition to the new themes, PUBG Mobile also updated and upgraded the ability to identify hacked / cheat behaviors to add balance to this game.

Vikendi maps are also updated with footprints and car marks on the snow, creating more practicality for the game. Besides, the player also has changes in the corpse that appear in two zombie modes: Survive Till Dawn and Darkest Night. Here are some changes in Zombie mode in PUBG Mobile version 0.13.0.

1. How to get rewards when you find Godzilla in PUBG Mobile
2. Areas where pets appear in PUBG Mobile

PUBG Mobile 0.13.0: New types of zombies and ways to win them

1. Zombie worker

This worker in the previous PUBG Mobile versions was a police zombie. Somehow, this version of PUBG Mobile 0.13.0 has been sent back to work as a worker.

Perhaps also because part of the Raccoon Police building was replaced as an abandoned factory, the police had to quit their jobs to become factory workers.

Being from the police that switched to being workers but the blood and stamina of zombie workers is no different from the police zombie. To destroy this type of zombie, aiming at the head is still the best option if you want to finish them off quickly.

2. Skinner

The damage and blood count of Skinner is no different than what Licker is, the way to attack remains the same as Licker's in the previous version. Moving is still very fast and always "takes the momentum" before slapping at the player one blow.

In addition, Skinner has another new skill that gives off a red circle and it is unclear what this skill does. In general, Skinner only changed the skin a bit, but everything is similar to Licker in the previous version.

3. Mutant

Mutant is an image that, when seen, the player will immediately remember the G-Virus or Dr. William Birkin. The hand loosely held the iron tube and just waited to see if anyone was passing by. While the G-Virus is not too dangerous for anyone who has experience fighting zombie bosses, just be quick and pay attention a bit to kill the G-Virus.

The same with Mutant, but the Mutant blood will be slightly more buffered than the G-Virus and this zombie has the ability to jump to the player to attack while the G-Virus does not. But Mutant doesn't always perform this skill.

So the trick to destroy this "thug" zombie is still running and shooting. Note that before facing Mutant, you should equip a weapon that uses 7.62mm bullets and should not engage in combat with him.

4. Paimen

Paimen will replace the Tyrant's position to the gamer and sometimes leave the game for practice. But perhaps Paimen will give the gamer more onions, Paimen's attack is still the same as Tyrant's but moving a little faster. Perhaps due to the modified appearance it looks more compact and somewhat mechanical.

As for how to attack, he still punches like Tyrant and occasionally fetches land and throws it at the player's face. So many times still annoying for gamers, to destroy him, you only need to go 2 or more people and carry 7.62mm bullet weapons, then a lure, a shot is possible.

In general, these new zombies have a change in appearance and name but the "thug" nature has not changed. If you see the gamer rushing in to ask for "watch", the advice for you is to go with your teammates, move quickly, concentrate so there is no zombie that can knock you down.
