Ways to earn free diamonds in Free Fire

Free Fire has many in-game currencies that you can use to make transactions and own many different costumes and skins, characters or items. The most premium currency in Free Fire right now is called Diamonds, and you can use it to get exclusive items through various events. However, that kind of money is not free and to get it you have to spend money.

However, many people do not like to deposit money or follow the motto of just playing - not depositing, then buying diamonds in the game is not a top choice. But they still try to find diamonds in many different ways. And some of the ways below will help you get free diamonds.

Change FF diamond code

Codes are still a reliable source of diamonds and items and skins, although the number of codes is not much and they expire quickly. You need to watch the code and the time it takes to enter the code as quickly as possible.

Perhaps you don't see many Free Fire codes given to players by the publisher. But with the codes that the game publisher uses as rewards for players if they participate in events, they will be attractive rewards that you can use without worrying about entry limits, but they will have a time limit. period of use.

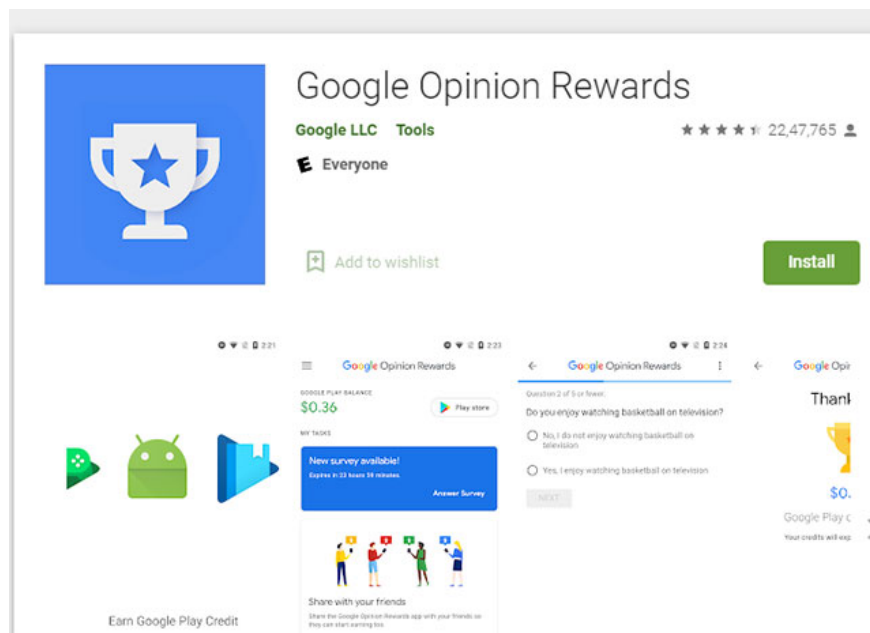

Different from many other mobile games, when you enter the FF code, the reward will be delivered to your mailbox within 24 hours after entering. You can see the latest codes in the latest Free Fire codes list.

You can continue to search for new codes for your account, even if the code does not give you diamonds, you will still have a chance to receive valuable rewards.

Get free diamonds with Google Opinion Rewards

Google Opinion Rewards, this method is probably quite popular with many Free Fire players to receive rewards. Basically, you can log into your Free Fire account on this application and then complete surveys that the developer will occasionally provide to players.

You will then receive credits in the Google Play Store and can eventually use the credits you receive to exchange them for diamonds in Free Fire. Although accumulating credit scores through surveys will take up quite a bit of your time.

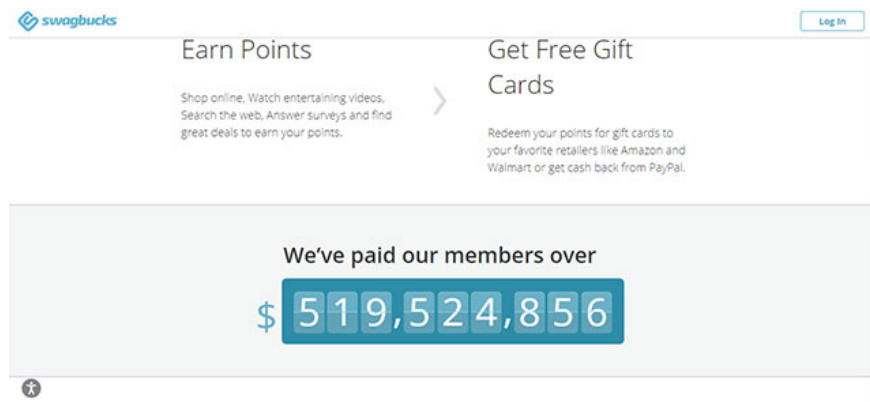

Additionally, you can use these credits on Super Air Drops or use as a FF member. Because both of these methods have better incentives than regular deposits in the game.

You can download the Google Opinion Rewards version for Android directly from the link above, but for iOS you need to change the App Store to another country.

GPT applications and websites
