

4 websites to book super cheap air tickets, helping people who often fly 'saving' air tickets

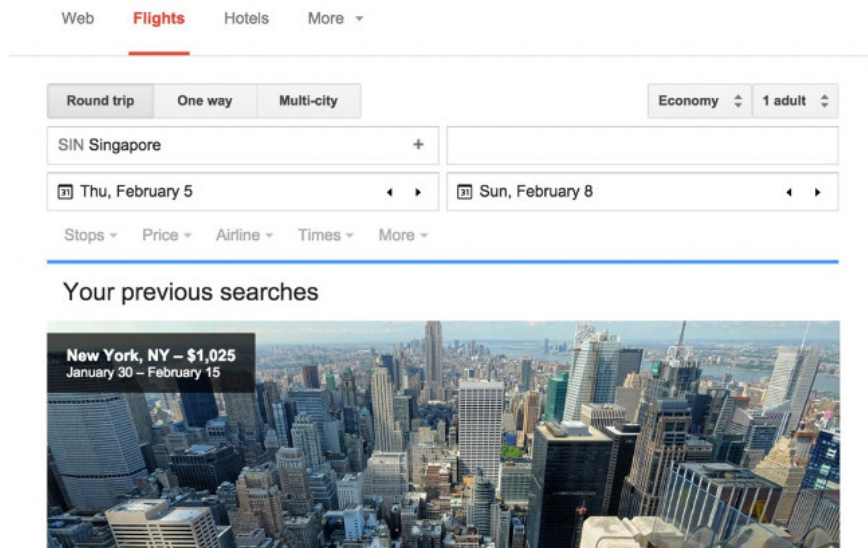

When it comes to hunting for cheap airline tickets, perhaps many are familiar with sites like Expedia or Airfarewatchdog. In addition to those familiar websites, there are countless services available today that can save you more money on airline tickets.

1. Cultural standards of countries around the world
2. Essential things if you want to hunt for cheap airline tickets
3. Guidance on procedures for quick passport registration online

For those who regularly travel or travel abroad on airplanes, it is probably too familiar with cheap ticketing sites like Expedia or Airfarewatchdog. However, when hunting for cheap tickets, it is imperative that you open multiple web browsers at the same time to book the best price, but this will take time and the network will be less difficult to book.

To help you book the cheapest airfare, here are the 4 best, most economical flight booking websites that are especially useful for those who regularly travel by plane. Please refer to it!

1. Google Flights

This is a convenient service, when using this service, you can choose the best and fastest tickets for customers. With Google Flights you can compare prices effectively, you can use them easily on both computers and smartphones.

Essentially, the Google Flights service is a true ticket comparison service: allowing you to view multiple airline schedules at the same time, how much fares are available, departure times, and how many airports to transfer to . When you like any company, clicking on a broadcast will be transferred to your website to proceed with booking. It is convenient but it is also good, not to mention that you can overview the fare of many airlines so it will save more money.

The screenshot shows the Google Flights search interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'Web', 'Flights', 'Hotels', and 'More'. Below this, there are search filters for 'Round trip', 'One way', and 'Multi-city', along with 'Economy' class and '1 adult' passenger count. The search parameters are set to 'SIN Singapore' to 'New York (all airports)' for the dates 'Fri, January 30' to 'Sun, February 15'. A 'Stops' filter is set to 'Price', and a 'Bar chart' icon is circled in red. The main section is titled 'Choose an outbound flight' for 'Friday, January 30: Singapore - New York', sorted by price. It lists three flight options:

Price	Airline	Departure	Duration	Stops
$1,021 round trip	American, JAL	8:20 am - 8:49 pm	25h 29m SIN-LGA	2 stops NRT, ORD
$1,025 round trip	Delta	6:55 am - 4:05 pm	22h 10m SIN-JFK	1 stop 2h 30m in NRT
$1,025 round trip	JAL · American	8:20 am - 6:25 pm	23h 05m SIN-JFK	1 stop 3h 25m in NRT

If you need urgent flights, the search results will be highlighted in green, making it easy for you to distinguish.

Usage is as follows:

1. Find right from Google, the syntax is as follows "Flight from big ". If you don't use a name, you can use the airport code as well. Example:" flight SGN Da lat ".
2. No need to type exactly every word.
3. Go to <https://www.google.com/flights> , enter the airport name, the airport and choose the date you want
4. After you have selected a location and selected flight times, you will see a list of airlines that have flights between the two points you choose, choose the appropriate time, check the price and click on the booking. The following steps are very simple and will mainly be done on the airline's web, but nothing complicated.
5. There is a Track Price button for each flight you search for, this feature tracks the price and email alerts you when there is a price change (to see if it is cheaper, you can immediately book it).
