

5 apps that make Android Auto 10 times more useful

There is a huge library of great Android Auto apps that make driving fun and entertaining, but there are also some utility apps that many people really like.

Android Auto allows users to get the most out of their phone while driving without distraction. There is a huge library of great Android Auto apps that make driving fun and entertaining. There are also some utility apps that many people really like.

Musicolet Music Player

Feature-rich offline music player for uninterrupted music experience

Many people primarily use Musicolet via Android Auto in their cars, and it has become the go-to choice for seamless, ad-free music streaming. Musicolet is a completely offline music player that allows you to control your music, access playlists, queues, folders, and your entire library right from the car's interface without any hassle. Not needing internet access means it's completely offline, which is great for privacy and reliability on long trips.

The app features an efficient user interface with one-touch navigation leading to players, playlists, folders, albums, artists, and playlists on Android Auto.

TuneIn Radio

Stay up to date with what's happening

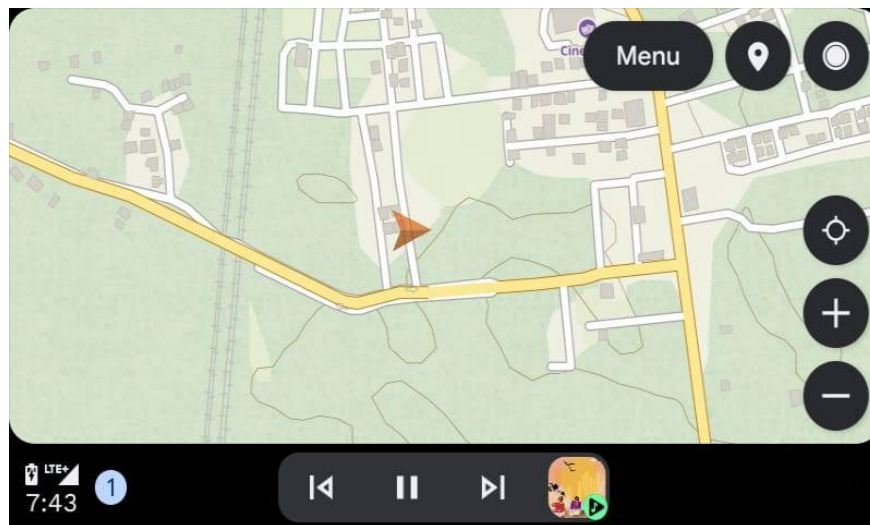

TuneIn Radio is a premium radio service that consistently ranks among the best apps. While it's not the best choice for music and podcasts, it's earned a spot on many people's lists of the best Android Auto widget apps. Why? TuneIn excels at delivering live news and sports updates.

TuneIn is a valuable addition to the driving experience, providing live news and sports updates in audio. The app allows you to stay connected to real-time information without having to rely on your phone on long trips.

Gaia GPS

Off-road driving made easy with convenient terrain maps

Gaia GPS turns off-road trips into confident, well-planned adventures. The standout features include powerful GPS and topographic maps that make exploring trails a breeze. The app also features offline, signal-free maps for remote backpacking routes, with downloads covering everything from national parks to scenic campsites.

Fuelio

Make the most of every fill-up

Fuelio is a great utility app that's a must-have for any road trip - it's the go-to Android Auto app to make your trip a breeze. Fuelio is a comprehensive utility app that helps you track your fuel costs throughout your journey.

With Fuelio, you can easily log each gas stop, recording details like the amount of fuel purchased, total cost, and vehicle mileage after each fill-up.

MyRadar Weather Radar

No more weather surprises on your trips

MyRadar stores up to two hours of weather information on a loop, giving you a quick overview of upcoming storms or clear skies—perfect for checking on the go without having to fumble through menus. There are several weather layers you can add to MyRadar, including jet streams, pressure systems, hurricanes, earthquakes, and wildfires. These layers allow you to stay up to date on what might be happening on your journey.

You finished reading the article "5 apps that make Android Auto 10 times more useful" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---