

5 Macs have the most expensive price in Apple's history

Apple products from the past to present have a high selling price and are often much higher than the prices offered by other competitors for their products.

Apple products from the past to present have a high selling price and are often much higher than the prices offered by other competitors for their products.

Despite the high price compared to the common ground, but Apple has been very successful on their way, Cupertino has become one of the technology companies with the most sales and number of machines sold in the world.

Have you ever wondered why Apple has achieved such success?

More specifically, a 5K screen iMac launched by Apple is priced at up to 54 million VND in Vietnam, with that amount you can absolutely buy 3 units with a "terrible" configuration no less than iMac (Although finishing quality may not be equal. Not only the iMac 5K, some of Apple's previously released products also have a very high price in the new technology market.

For more information, please refer to the video below, this video is made by cultofmac.com. Introducing 5 Macs with the most expensive price of Apple at the time the device came out.

You finished reading the article "5 Macs have the most expensive price in Apple's history" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
