Take some time to pay attention to the sponsored products on e-commerce websites in general and Amazon in particular. These are the preferred products displayed on search engines. Salespeople pay to have their products prioritized to display, to attract your attention. It is a miniature competition in terms of price and product quality, so take a moment to visit the booth of sponsored products.

To view sponsored products on Amazon, just look down at the bottom of the page when searching for a product. The sponsored products will be related to the product you are watching, and may have a better price or get more 5-star reviews. Scroll from left to right to see a list of sponsored products (see illustration above).

If you want to combine options with good reviews, check out the specific review topics that are of interest. For example, I am planning to buy a razor and the evaluation criteria I have used are easy to use and the best price.

Apply percentage discount after URL

This is a great tip on Amazon that many people don't know. Amazon does not always show discounts on its products continuously. To check if there are any products in the list that are being discounted, you simply add the text with the text '& pct-off =% -%' after the URL of the category and the results will be Products are being discounted as well as a specific reduction. In the above example, the results page shows a 20% to 30% discount for pen products. How much discount you can apply, as long as there are discounted products within that range, there will be immediate returns.

Use price tracking tools

This is another ingenious tool to help you get 'the best' of Amazon's deals, but this trick will require the use of third-party tools, which are the price tracking tools. In addition, these tools will be really useful if you can wait for a few days to buy an item or if you want to make sure that this deal is the best at the present time. As you can see in the illustration, this is a pair of Puma shoes that cost $ 41.96.

Next, you have to use a price comparison tool called CamelCamelCamel.com. Here you will have to enter the URL of the Amazon product you are trying to buy. Conduct a search, filter the results and now, you can view the trend of product prices over time and make a decision about whether to wait for further discounts or buy them. Going back to the example, these Puma shoes were sold recently with the lowest price of $ 39, while the current price is nearly $ 42. Therefore, it is likely that the product will still be able to receive further discounts in the future, you can wait until the next discount or buy it if you don't want to wait. This method of tracking prices will be especially useful when used with large, high value products, it can save you quite a bit of money.

This is another software called Onlinepricealert.com, which also helps with similar tasks like CamelCamelCamel.

1. Adjust the product price 2.5 million times a day, an average of 10 minutes change the price once, how did Amazon do it?

Consider used products

If you are not afraid of used products, you can visit Amazon Warehouse. Here, you will have tons of options for old, used products. If you know how to choose, you can earn a lot of bargains, especially for electronic devices, unlocked mobile phones, cameras and other devices. You may notice a small option next to items, called 'XX number of used offers'.

Avoid buying from many different distributors in one shopping session

Even if you buy goods from e-commerce sites in Vietnam, if the order includes goods from many vendors, your item will be scattered, even if you pay for it at a time. So very inconvenient. Amazon is similar, only Amazon is shipping from another country, delivery time will be long and delivery fees will be many times higher because you will be charged for each vendor. That makes us spend a lot more on shipping.

In short, Amazon is a familiar selling site in the shopping world thanks to the huge number of goods, rare goods, cheap prices and good, professional services. If you are a person who likes to 'hunt' online, besides the famous shopping websites in Vietnam such as Tiki, Lazada, Shopee, Meta.vn . you must be no stranger to the commercial website. This international electronics. Apply essential shopping tips and you'll save a lot of money while still buying quality products.
