

6 best free GIF creation apps for Mac

GIF is more widely used than ever with countless appearances on social networks. You will see everything from cute kittens to celebrity antics. And most of those GIFs bring you smiles.

GIF is more widely used than ever. Evidence is their overwhelming appearance on social networks. You will see everything from cute kittens to celebrity antics. And most of those GIFs bring you smiles.

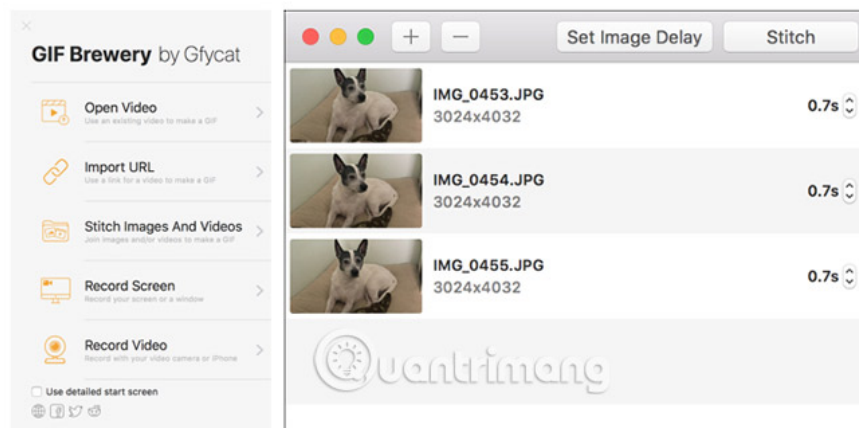

In addition to entertaining GIFs, there are GIFs for businesses. They are used to illustrate the steps in the process. Many websites even use them in articles to explain to you more about the written instructions.

If you want to try making GIFs for business or entertainment, you don't have to spend any money and only take a few minutes. Here are 6 great GIF creation tools for Mac you can consider.

6 best free GIF creation apps for Mac

1. GIF Brewery 3
2. Smart GIF Maker
3. Giphy Capture
4. Puppetry GIF Maker
5. Gifrocket
6. LICEcap

1. GIF Brewery 3

With GIF Brewery 3, you can create animated GIFs from existing video files on your computer or from an online video link. You can also stitch images and videos together or record your screen.

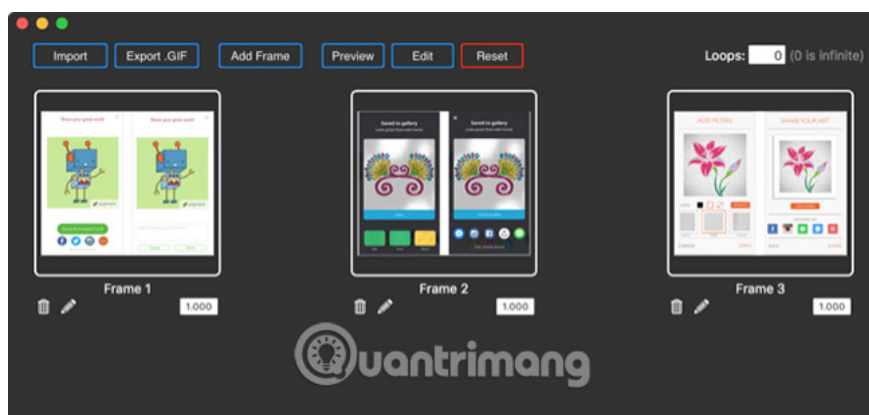

For videos and screen recordings, set the start and end frames, add slices, insert overlay and add text or sticker. In addition, you can crop, resize, change the background color and adjust the canvas size.

When you create GIFs by compositing images and videos, you can easily set the delay time for all items or individual items. Then, just save your finished GIF with one click. If you have a Gfycat account, you can also upload your GIF on it.

GIF Brewery is one of the best GIF producers thanks to its easy-to-use interface, as well as many options for both images and videos.

2. Smart GIF Maker

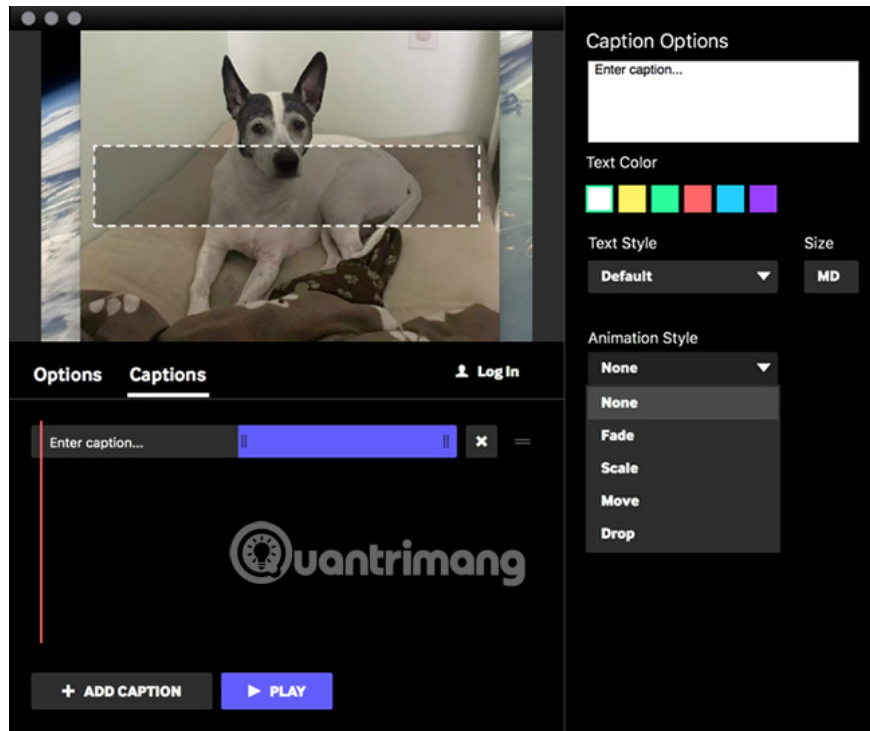

Smart GIF Maker is another great tool for creating GIFs on Mac. When you import your video, the application splits the video into frames that you can work with, delete or edit. You can also use images with the application and import them with the same type of editing options. For each frame, resize the drawing, use the eraser tool, adjust the background color and use the slider to select the appropriate colors.

After you edit your frames, you can set the time delay for each frame and the number of loops on the main screen. When you're done creating your GIF, click the Preview button at the top and then export it to your computer, if you're happy with the result.

Smart GIF Maker is easy to use, has a clear and simple interface. It is available for free in-app purchase feature to delete watermark.

3. Giphy Capture

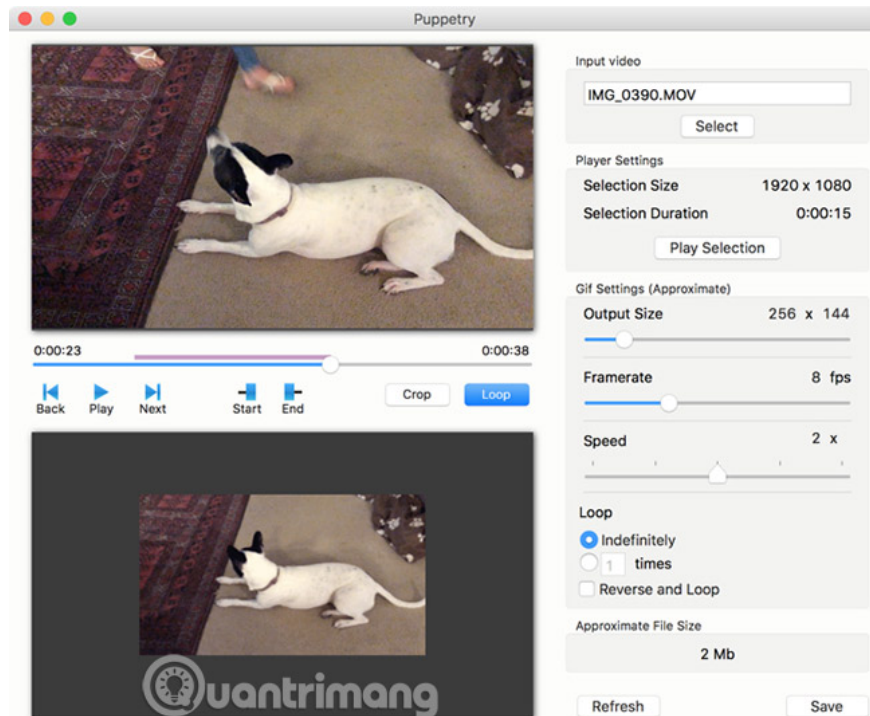

Capture Giphy is a bit different from the GIF creation tools above. This is associated with the screen record to create GIF. Click to start recording and then click again to stop. Next, go to the editing area to finalize your product.

You can set the type of loop to normal, reverse or ping-pong, adjust the maximum size of 640 pixels and change the frame rate from standard (standard) to low (low), high (high) or HD. Then add interesting annotations to your GIF, change the text color, style or size and choose an animation style such as fade or proportional.

If you have an account with Giphy, you can log in and upload your GIF, or save it to your computer if you like. Giphy Capture is a neat tool with basic editing options that make it easy to create GIF from the screen.

4. Puppetry GIF Maker

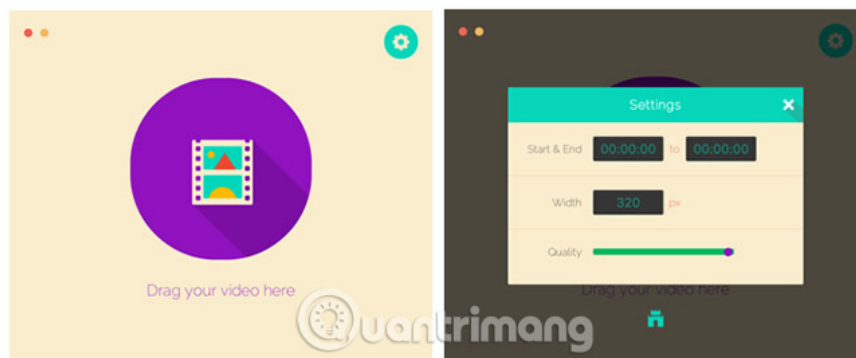

Pupperty GIF Maker is another application that you can choose from the Mac App Store. This app currently only works with videos but if that's the type of file you want to use, try Pupperty GIF Maker now!

Browse your video and then make the necessary adjustments. Set start and end time. After that, you will immediately see the preview of your GIF. Next, change the output size, frame rate, speed and loop. When you're done, just press the Save button and you're done!

Pupperty GIF Maker may not have the same extended features as other GIF creation tools. But when you need to create a GIF quickly and want a simple tool to do it, this tool will do a great job.

5. Gifrocket

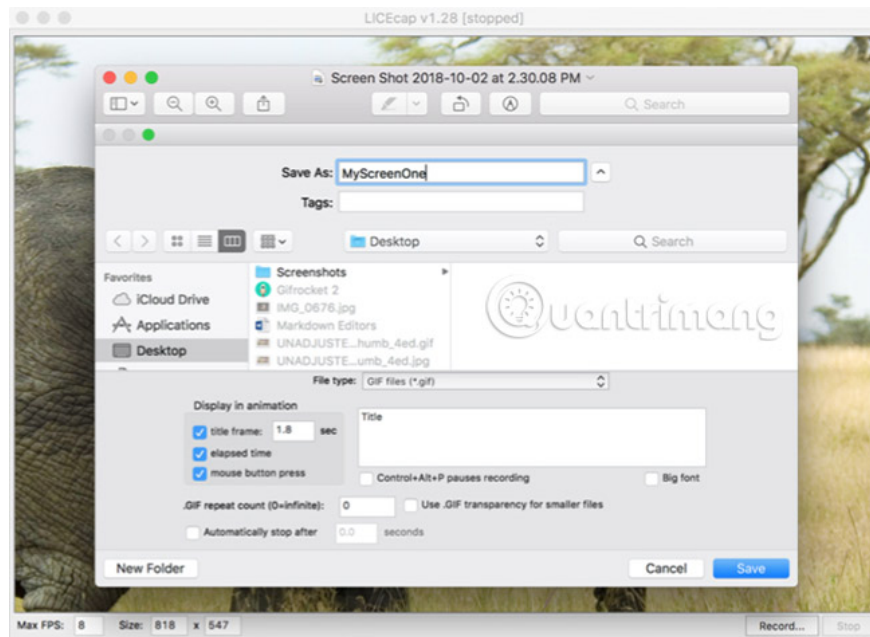

If you are not afraid to venture outside of the Mac App Store and try other ways to work with GIF, Gifrocket 2 is a good way to experiment. Like Pupperty GIF Maker, this tool works only with video files.

You will only find the basic settings here. Set your start and end times, adjust the width of GIF by pixel and reduce or enhance the quality of the finished product. Then, just drag your file to the Gifrocket interface. Wait a minute or a little longer and your GIF will be ready to use, in the same folder where you place your video.

Gifrocket creates GIFs from videos quickly, easily and without any hassle.

6. LICEcap

A new record creation and GIF creation tool that you can download directly is LICEcap. This works just like Giphy Capture and is also easy to use. Open it and adjust the frame every second and the size of the recorded window. Then press the Record button .

Before starting the recording, a window will appear where you can name the file, add tags, change the title frame time, elapsed time and display the mouse. You can also add titles, number of repetitions and automatic recording stops after a certain period of time. Click Save and your record will start. Click Stop when you are finished.

In addition to creating animated GIF images for use on social networks and to share for fun, sometimes you need to record the screen as a GIF file for the business. That's when LICEcap works.
