

64 photos show how the level of 'deceiving' the audience of Hollywood filmmakers is superior

64 photos in blockbusters before and after the effects below will show you the 'one-on-one' difference of the blockbuster movies before and after.

High-tech CGI (computer-generated imagery) is a computer graphics application used to create choking scenes and stunning images in most Hollywood blockbusters.

64 photos in blockbusters before and after the effects below will show you the 'one-on-one' difference of the blockbuster movies before and after.

Jurassic World

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

The Jungle Book

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

Captain America: Civil War

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

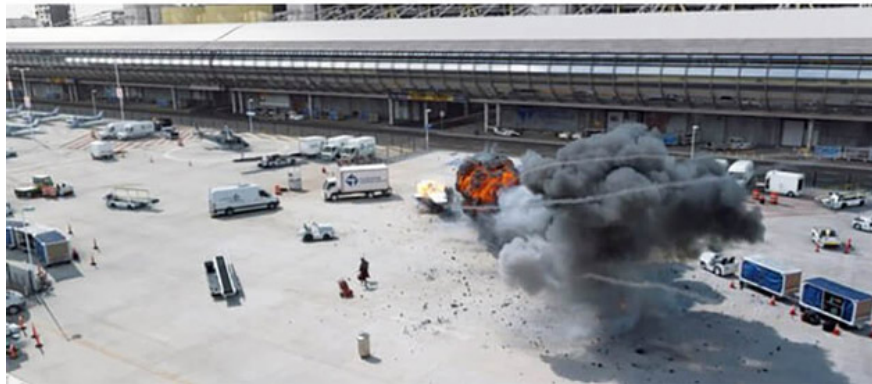

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

X-men: Apocalypse

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

Dr. Strange

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

IT: Spooky clown

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

Pan

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

Exodus: Gods and Kings

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

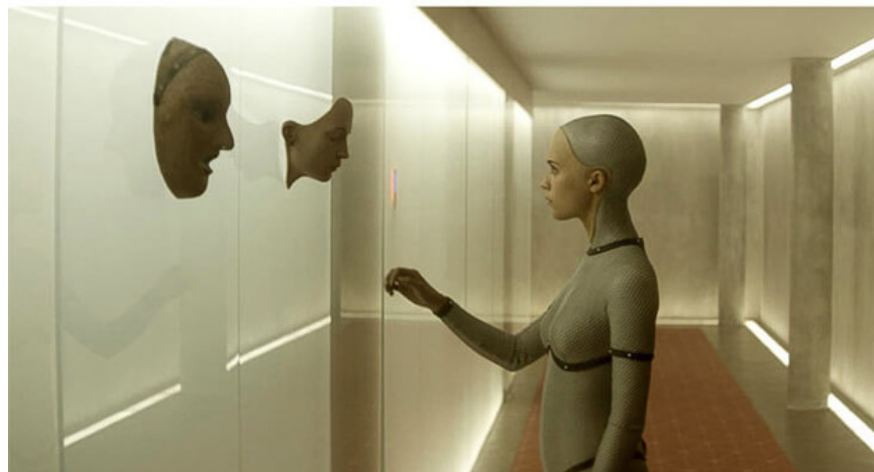

AFTER

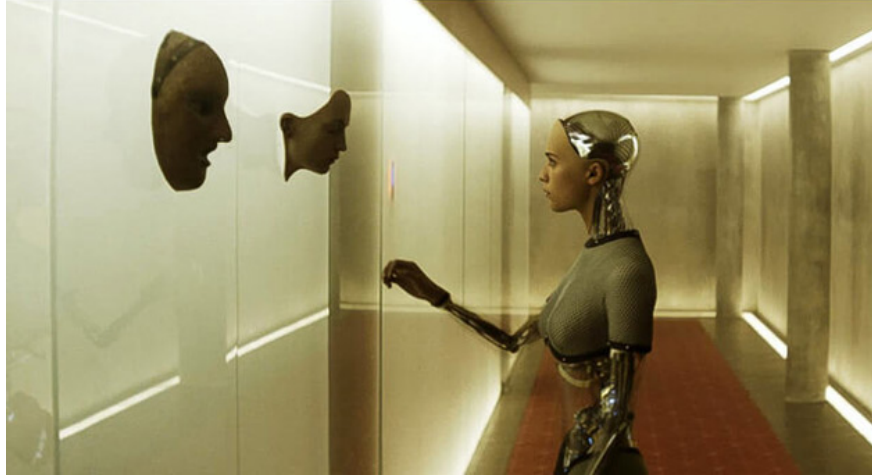

Ex Machina

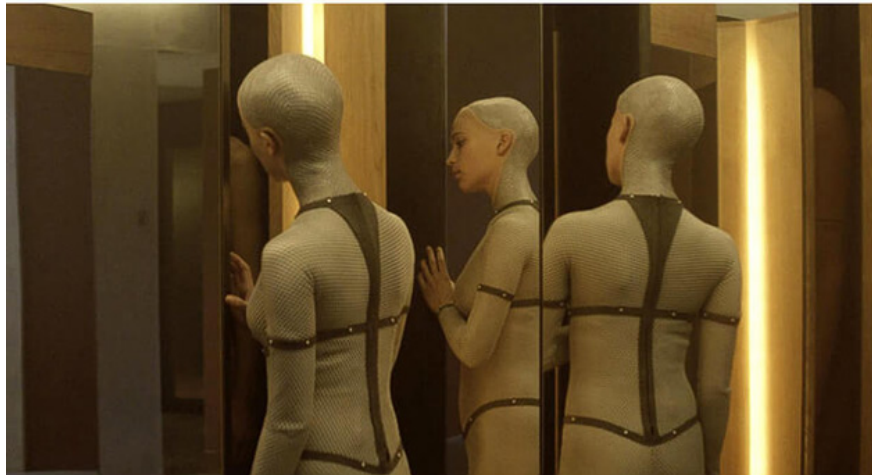

BEFORE

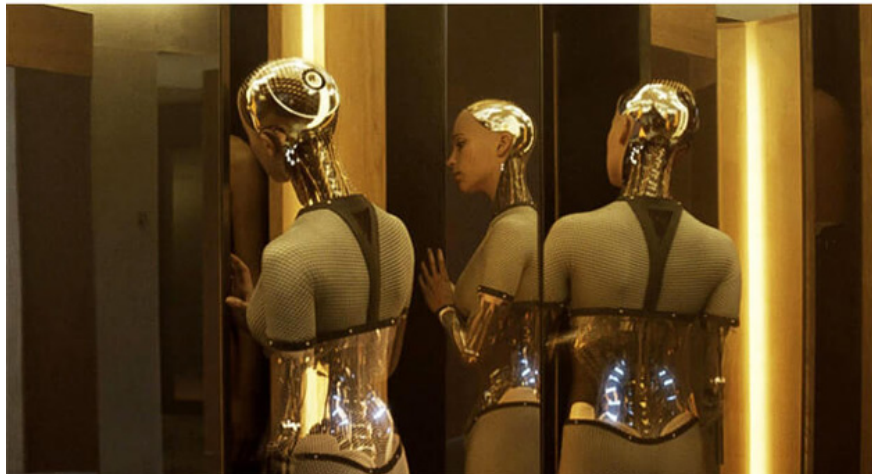

AFTER

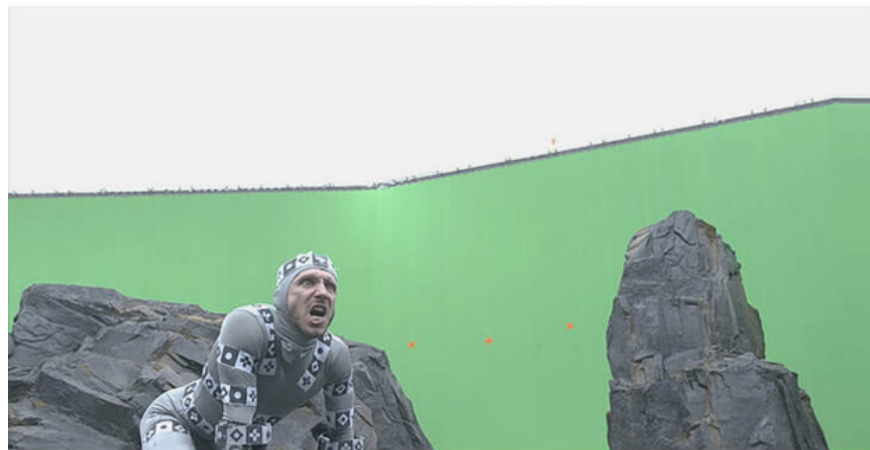

BEFORE

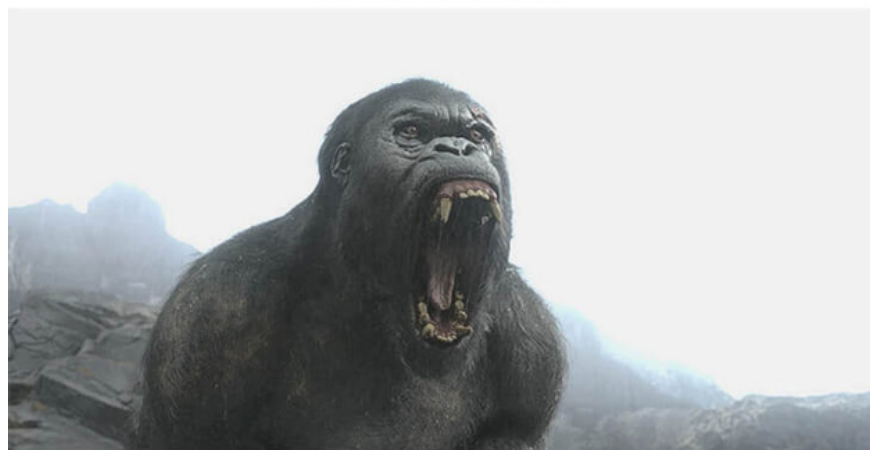

AFTER

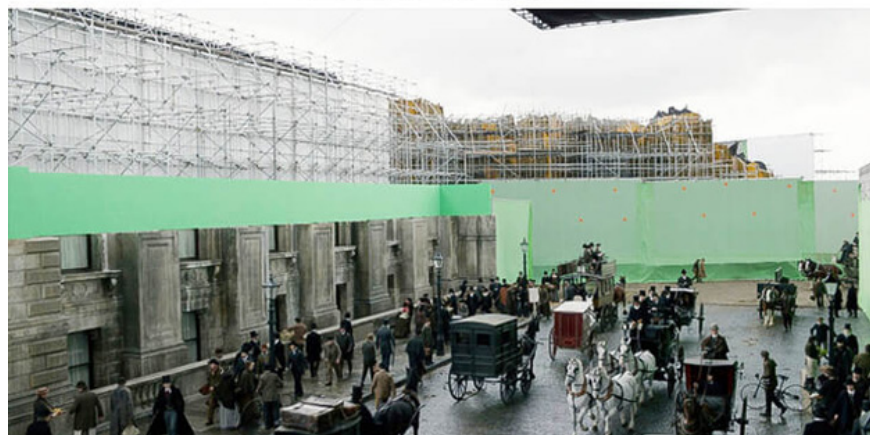

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

Aunt Peregrine's strange warm nest

BEFORE

AFTER

BEFORE

AFTER

See more:

1. What would movies look like without special effects?
2. Bullet time - the effect of Hollywood's blockbusters

You finished reading the article "64 photos show how the level of 'deceiving' the audience of Hollywood filmmakers is superior" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.