

7 great movies to watch on Valentine's day for single people

It's hard to say you like Valentine's Day while you're alone. If you're single, on Valentine's Day, pour yourself a glass of wine and enjoy some of the following great movies on Netflix!

It's hard to say you like Valentine's Day while you're alone. If you're single, on Valentine's Day, pour yourself a glass of wine and enjoy some of the following great movies on Netflix!

1. Gerald's Game - Gerald's Game (2017)

It is often said that love can kill you. And Gerald's Game is a clear example of this, by describing the worst situation on a romantic trip.

Based on the novel by Stephen King, this adaptation is extremely interesting. Gerald's Game will easily attract and make you no longer lonely on Valentine's Day.

2. Blue Jay - Blue jays (2016)

Blue Jay

Blue Jay is a black and white film with a plot that really captures the tears of the audience, with the participation of two actors, Sarah Paulson and Mark Duplass.

The two main characters meet again after a long time and recall the beautiful past love together. But in the end, they are not brave enough to break the closed door of real life.

3. Tallulah (2016)

Tallulah is practically a comedy. The main theme of this movie is to honor pure love. With the outstanding acting of Allison Janney (Margo) and Ellen Page (Tallulah), this is probably the perfect movie for you to enjoy yourself on Valentine's Day.

4. The Invitation - Invitation (2015)

The Invitation

If you're trying to prove that love is something terrible, The Invitation is the movie for you.

This horror film tells about broken relationships, grief and how we deal with life-changing events in the modern world.

The interesting message from this movie is to never accept an invitation from your ex.

5. Marriage Story - Marriage Story (2019)

The article does not encourage you to watch this movie if you have just experienced a divorce. Nominated for the recent Academy Award, Marriage Story - Adam Driver's marriage story as Charlie and Scarlett Johansson as Nicole - a couple who were happy before, but currently addressing broken marriage.

6. Secret Obsession - Secret Obsession (2019)

This movie shows a common fear that many women have: The loved ones nearby have a dark side they don't know.

In this movie, Jennifer is a victim of severe brain injury and memory loss. She woke up in the hospital bed and saw her dear husband by her side. But surprisingly, that person wasn't really her husband.

The happenings in Secret Obsession will make you really nervous and creepy.

7. Earthquake Bird - Seismic Bird Wings (2019)

Earthquake Bird

Earthquake Bird is a romantic thriller. Based on a book of the same name, Earthquake Bird is set in Japan in 1989, revolving around a translator named Lucy who lives and works abroad. When Lucy is involved in a messy relationship and her friend is murdered, Lucy is also caught up in this murder investigation.

This film is a bizarre story, based on the sensations related to the nuances of past trauma and the way they are expressed in current relationships.

You finished reading the article "7 great movies to watch on Valentine's day for single people" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.