

7 Mistakes when using condoms men are susceptible

Although it is a familiar device, many people using condoms do not avoid unfortunate mistakes. Let's see what that mistake is.

Research has shown that for many people, condom use has become very regular as a daily routine. But the reality is that the number of people who practice correctly and gain optimal protection from condoms is modest. That's because they made some 'silly' mistakes when using this item. Let's learn about some of the most common mistakes that men make when using condoms !

Quick view content

1. Wear a condom too early or too late
2. Wearing condoms too wide or too tight
3. Tear the condom cover with your teeth
4. Wearing the top right - left
5. Do not collapse the tip containing semen
6. Remove the condom too early or too late

7. Reuse condoms

Wear a condom too early or too late

It's really 'unprofessional' at least if you or someone else makes this mistake. Wearing condoms too soon will make the condom surface dry, which will make it difficult and painful for women to put in. Conversely, if the penis is inserted into the vagina and then withdrawn to put on a condom, even when preparing to ejaculate, it is too late. This implies a lot of dangers. Therefore, the best time is after the foreplay ends, both sides are so affectionate that they get enough excitement, prepare to contact sensitive parts and put on a condom.

Wearing condoms too wide or too tight

Condoms are not the same size. So, make sure that your condom is the familiar type you use or at least fits in the size of your erection boy. Condoms that are too wide or too tight not only affect the sexual inspiration, but also cause slipping or tearing of the condom, leading to bad protection.

Tear the condom cover with your teeth

If you're in such a hurry that you can't use your hands to tear a condom, the guy will also absolutely use your mouth to tear the condom! This can tear the condom and, moreover, the lubricant in a condom is not good for oral health. Therefore, take a few seconds to find a place to tear on the condom or have a partner make it safer.

Wearing the top right - left

Many guys in the excitement, 'coffee' often do not pay attention to the left and right sides of condoms, resulting in uncomfortable use, uncomfortable, even very easy to slip. The identification is very simple, some types of condoms also have signs of distinguishing left and right, typically those of thorn condoms, just a little notice that you can do well.

Do not collapse the tip containing semen

Many people use condoms but do not pay attention to collapse the first part containing semen. This makes it very easy for a gas to escape, leading to tearing, splitting, and causing insufficient space for semen to spill out. Therefore, before using condoms, gently rub or squash your head to remove the inside air.

Remove the condom too early or too late

If anyone is making these mistakes then quickly remove them, because it can be very risky. Removing the condom too soon while still not all the love does not guarantee that you can not ejaculate more. On the contrary, it is dangerous to remove the condom too late after the child has faded, which can accidentally slip the condom into the partner's vagina, causing many consequences. The best time to remove the condom is when the master is still hard after pulling out of the vagina and the party ends the sex.

Reuse condoms

Don't be 'silly' thinking about reusing an old condom. This is not only unhygienic, increases the risk of disease but also unsafe for your love. So, no matter how much you save, never reuse this kind of item in any way!

Above are our 'sincere' tips on how to use condoms correctly. In general, with the subjective guy, downplaying the safety when using condoms, this is certainly not redundant. Also believe that, with the careful, meticulous guy must know how is the most correct, safest!

Wish you both always have full and safe love!

You finished reading the article "7 Mistakes when using condoms men are susceptible" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.