

[Video] Admire the latest images of Microsoft Edge browser on Chromium platform

It seems that the big Microsoft can't keep the product secret from wearing this new shirt.

As we know, Microsoft announced last year that it would "completely reform" its Edge browser from scratch based on the popular Chromium platform.

And it seems that the big Microsoft can't keep the product secret from wearing this new shirt. Following The Verge with impressive images from the leaked real build, Windows Central recently released a 15-minute video showing a more complete view of the Edge browser interface. this new

Please admire the latest images via the video below:

This construction is rated to have good performance and stability. Of course, this is not all. Another note for Edge's fans is that not all of the older browser features will appear on the new version, since the conversion will depend on their current popularity.

This new Edge version is currently being developed internally and is expected to be available in the coming weeks.

You finished reading the article "[Video] Admire the latest images of Microsoft Edge browser on Chromium platform" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.