

A guide to adding new cities to AirVisual to see air pollution levels

You can add more cities to monitor pollution on AirVisual application, especially the cities with relatives and places you want to travel to.

The topic of air pollution is the hottest topic in recent days. Pollution levels in Vietnam's major cities like Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City. Ho Chi Minh City is at an alarming rate, especially in some places where the air pollution index is at a dangerous level.

In such heavy air pollution, personal protective measures and air pollution measurement applications are an indispensable tool for every road trip.

The AirVisual application is one of the precise air pollution measurement applications by region and is one of the most popular tools for measuring air.

In addition to the city you are currently living in, you can add other cities your relatives live in to remind them of air quality if they are at a dangerous level. Or simply look at the city's air index if you plan to travel, here's how to add a city to AirVisual.

1. See air pollution index by BreezoMeter application
2. 5 applications to help you track the activity of storms easily
3. How to see the weather multiple locations on iPhone at the same time
