

A terrible nightmare for more than 40 years in the 'dead swamp' area in America

Devil's legend of eating humans, swamp demons, Tom two fingers lurking in the American swamp causing the death of a series of creatures and humans. They were horrifying nightmares that haunted the locals for more than 40 years but had never been arrested.

Dubbed the " devil-eating legend", "swamp demons", "Tom two fingers" - the giant crocodile lurking in the American swamp triggers the death of the creature and human. They are " horrible nightmares " that haunt the locals for more than 40 years but have never been arrested.

" Just where there is water, there is the rage of" swamp demons "" Tom two fingers "" He "does not hesitate to attack and eat women, children and all creatures live "he" met on the road . "It was a terrible transmission of the locals about one of the horror" devouring devils "in history.

"Devil" swamp Tom two fingers

Many people already know about the male Nile crocodile Gustave is the "horrible nightmare" of Africans, taking the lives of more than 300 people, Tom is still more cunning and scary.

In the 1920s, "Tom two fingers" began to rage in the area of ??forests and swamps that bordered the states of Alabama and Florida.

Originally buffaloes, cows, donkeys, horses to domestic animals in residential areas near the forest and near the marshes were ruthlessly "slaughtered" and then the humans also disappeared strangely causing the population extremely confused. They do not know which evil beasts caused those terrible things.

To protect themselves, the people are determined to set traps, destroy these evil creatures. They were extremely surprised to find the giant crocodile nearly 5 meters long and weighed tons of traps.

But, with the strong jaws championed with the giant body, the crocodile hurled and escaped the giant iron cage. Even the hunting bullets and sharp spears could not defeat it.

After the war, the crocodile lost all of its toes, except for the 2 fingers on the front leg left. That's why this "devil" is called "Tom two fingers".

"Devil" could not arrest

After escaping the pursuit of the local people, Tom became more and more aggressive than before. It eats every living creature in the swamp and dense forest between the two southeastern states of the United States.

The fear of haunting the local people for 10 years to a day in 1934, Professor Carl Carmer of the University of Alabama went to the area where Tom was supposed to be two fingers to write the book. Adventure travel titled "Stars Fell on Alabama".

When he heard about the crimes that Tom had two fingers to do, he and his people planned to destroy this "devil". 15 tanks filled with explosives were released into the lake where the professor believed Tom's refuge for two fingers.

However, the explosion killed all other creatures in the lake, except Tom two fingers. Because just a few minutes after the explosion, Tom saw two angry fingers like ghosts looking at them with bloodshot eyes before disappearing completely in the jungle.

This makes people believe that Tom two fingers are "demons" from hell and humans cannot kill it.

During the next 30 years, Tom's two fingers continue to attack people and escape the hunt of the locals. Someone had ever encountered it and told him that Tom's two fingers had grown like a giant monster, his whole body was nearly 8 meters long and weighed tons.
