

Acer is coming out with a 15-inch ultrabook for $ 699

This is a good signal because most laptop manufacturers are now having difficulty reducing the price of ultrabook to below $ 1,000.

Laptop makers began to pay more attention to ultrabook models larger than 13.3 inches.

Acer is about to launch a 15-inch ultrabook for $ 699. Photo: Tablet-news.

According to DigiTimes , laptop screen maker Pegatron Technology said Acer will launch a 15-inch ultrabook for $ 699. This is a good signal because most laptop manufacturers are now having difficulty reducing the price of ultrabook to below $ 1,000.

However, many people predict, Acer 15 inch ultrabook model may not meet the design requirements set by Intel. Samsung Series 5 14-inch version is listed by the Korean manufacturer as a ultrabook but weighs 1.8 kg and is 2.08 cm thick. So a 15-inch ultrabook model can hardly reach weight and thickness below that level.

You finished reading the article "Acer is coming out with a 15-inch ultrabook for $ 699" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.