

Additional YouTube displays information related to artists

Google has just added a new feature on the YouTube platform web service. Now when you want to check what information is related to artist Youtube will display a lot more information related to that artist.

Google has just added a new feature on the YouTube platform web service.

The artist's songs and albums are displayed right on YouTube

According to CNET on February 14, for example when a user accesses the YouTube page and types the keyword " Kelly Clarkson " (American Idol contestant singer) into the search box, in addition to the list of video results displayed on the side. Below, to the right of the YouTube interface will display a list of the highest rated songs presented by singer Kelly Clarkson .

In addition, when clicking on listening to any video clip presented by this singer, users will be "suggested" by YouTube to watch the most outstanding video clips of this singer.

Currently, this feature has been applied by Google to YouTube users worldwide.

You finished reading the article "Additional YouTube displays information related to artists" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

