

Admire 12 composite photos that make you believe that every part of the world has its own 'half'

Invite you to admire the 12 composite photos that make you believe that every place in the world has their own half in the article below!

Invite you to admire the 12 composite photos that make you believe that every part of the world has their own "half" in the article below!

1. 40+ vivid 3D paintings make you believe your eyes
2. 12 tips to raise "virtual living" to a new level
3. 18 impressive maps of the world you may have never seen in books

During the past 2 years, the Instagram page howfarfromhome with more than 149K followers has posted photos taken by photographers while exploring our world planet . They traveled through 40 countries and captured more than 14,000 photos for everyone in the world to see the beauty of the Earth, where we live.

Photographers find some pictures that show the similarities of the world's landscapes that are thousands of miles apart. Instagram howfarfromhome does this to let everyone know that every part of the world has its own " half ". Here is the complete collection of 12 photo collages thanks to their imagination .

1. Bryce Canyon in the United States and the Dolomites in Italy

2. Forests in Norway and forests in Japan

3. Flower Sydney Flora in Australia and the flower Bali Flora in Indonesia

4. Banff National Park in Canada and Tsitsikamma National Park in South Africa

5. Tower Bridge in London and Brooklyn Bridge in New York

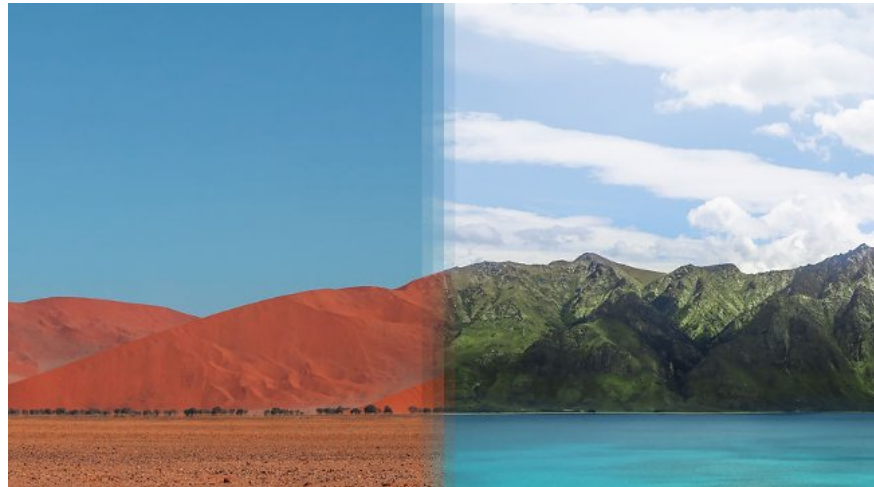

6. Austrian Alps and Drakensberg in South Africa

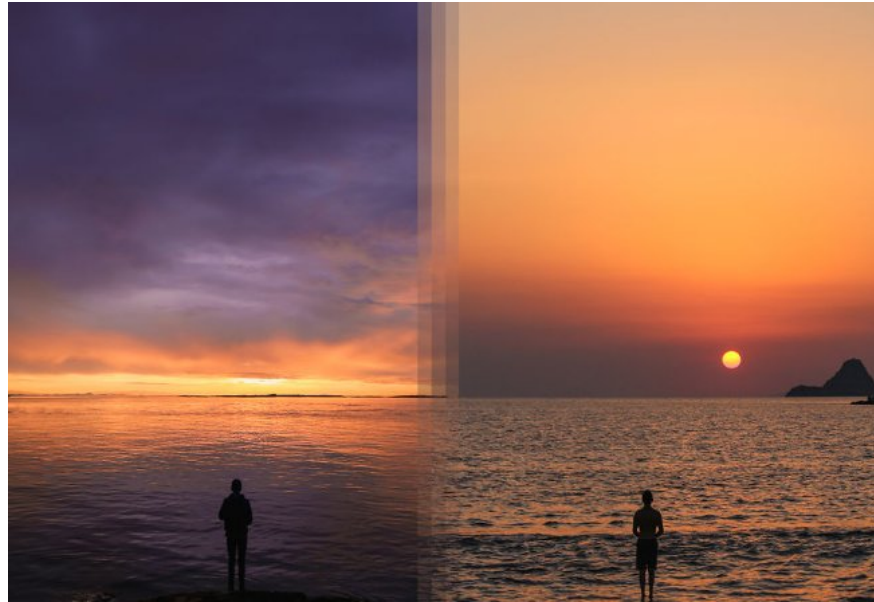

7. Alberta in Canada and Järpen in Sweden

8. Sossusvlei in Namibia and Otago in New Zealand

9. Dawn on Vancouver Island in Canada and on Poros Island in Greece

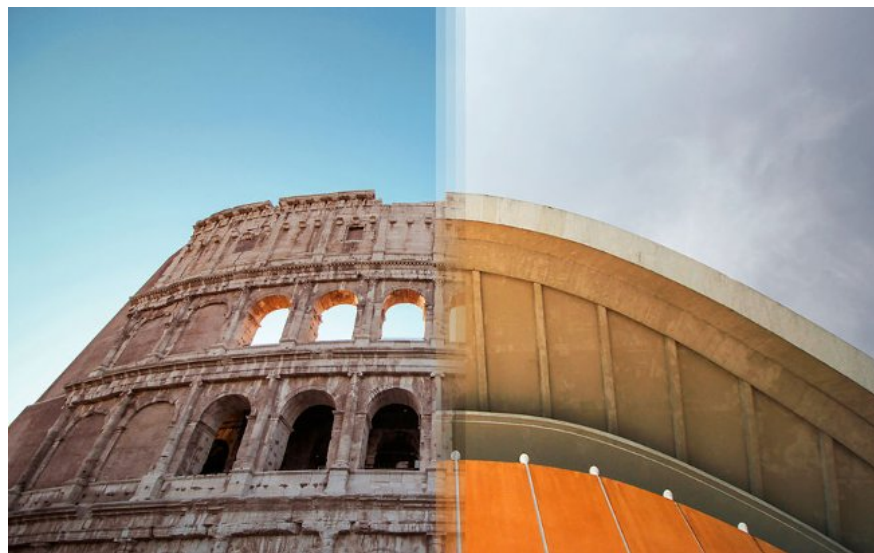

10. Summer in Iceland and winter in Germany

11. Lake Tekapo in New Zealand and Lake Wolfgang in Austria

12. Architecture in Italy and Germany

See also: 18 "virtual living" evidence on social networks makes us laugh

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "Admire 12 composite photos that make you believe that every part of the world has its own 'half'" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.