

Already able to use YouTube Music in Vietnam

Google has recently allowed YouTube Music users in countries not on the rollout to use their services.

YouTube Music is Google's music streaming service launched in May 2018 and is limited to some countries such as the US and Australia. However, Google recently allowed YouTube Music users in countries not in Deploy lists used their services. Google's move aims to help YouTube Music increase its competitiveness with current music streaming services such as Apple Music, Spotify, Mora Qualitas or Amazon Music HD.

Earlier, Google also announced that YouTube Music will be pre-installed on Android 10 devices when it launches. So it makes sense that Apple wants YouTube Music to become a popular app at this time.

Note: To register YouTube Music, Vietnamese users still need Fake ID to go to the US or other developed countries. Once you have an account, users only need to log in and use YouTube Music in Vietnam as usual.

1. The YouTube Music application will be pre-installed on new Android 10 devices
2. Freeze tab, a new feature that helps Google Chrome to consume less RAM, please experience
3. Google secretly contains at least one 'Easter Egg' in each Android version, this is how to find them

You finished reading the article "Already able to use YouTube Music in Vietnam" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.