Acronis, a well-known name in the field of safety protection for critical data on hard disks (see TGVT A 6/2005, ID: A0506_77), has a solution to help you deal with spyware threats for the entire system. - Acronis Privacy Expert 8.0 Corporate (www.acronis.com.sg/enterprise/products/privacyexpert).

Setting

The software includes an installation file of about 45MB. When you run the installation program you will find options: Acronis Privacy Corporate Management Console (centralized server management program), Acronis Privacy Expert Corporate Agent (the program installed on the client) and Acronis License Server (program control of use license).

First, you need to install the Acronis License Server and enter the serial number to install the Acronis Privacy Expert Corporate Agent on the computer you are using or on the remote computer (provided you have an account with admin rights).

Here is a special point: entering the serial number for Acronis License Server can only be performed from the command line with the License program ServerCmdLine.exe (C: Program File acronisLicenseServer).

In addition to the above situation, the installation and setup of the program are generally simple. You can master the program and set up antispyware 'walls' within 1 hour.

Function

First of all, of course, the antispyware feature. Acronis Privacy Expert Corporate has the ability to remotely perform (from the server) the installation of antispyware programs and test and kill spyware for network computers. The network administrator can perform everything from the server without the user at the client having to touch. The program has the ability to schedule spyware checks, update spyware identification data from the Internet. Spyware monitoring is done in real time. The Acronis Spyware Shield program icon in the system tray allows you to quickly change antispyware settings.

In addition to antispyware, the software also features pop-up blocking (Pop-up Blocker) and 'cleaning' hard disks (Drive Cleaner); This feature removes 'real' data on the hard disk so it cannot be recovered. As you know, when deleting a file in Windows, the file is only marked for deletion and remains on the hard disk; So it can be restored with specialized tools.

Acronis Privacy Expert 8.0 Corporate is a simple and easy-to-use tool that can help you securely protect private data on your computer (and network computers). System requirements: Windows 9x / XP / 2000/2003.

The price of Acronis Privacy Expert 8.0 Corporate software is 29.99 USD / license. Currently TD&T - the official distributor of Acronis products in Vietnam - is implementing a 10% discount program for customers who purchase more than 9 (the unit price will be 26.99 USD / license). The program takes place in August 3, 9 and October 2005.
