BTV Jeff Benjamin of 9to5mac recently received a special parcel from China, which contained 3 iPhone 2019 prototypes (aka iPhone 11). These three prototypes are said to be iPhone 11, iPhone 11 Max and iPhone 11R, created for testing purposes and leaked out.

These iPhone 11 models have different sizes and number of rear cameras. iPhone 11R only has 2 rear cameras with narrow angle and wide angle. The iPhone 11 and 11 Max have three rear cameras, including a narrow-angle camera, a wide-angle camera and an ultra-wide angle.

Contrary to the initial thought that iPhone 11's square camera design was quite bad, after holding these 3 prototypes in hand, Benjamin felt it was not too bad even though it was not considered beautiful.

Expected, Apple will launch the iPhone trio 2019 in September.
