

Apple added a series of new applications to Apple TV

Yesterday, Google updated to add more new applications to their Chromecast. And today, Apple is also not inferior to its competitors, with the announcement of three new applications for their Apple TV set-top-box.

Yesterday, Google updated to add more new applications to their Chromecast. And today, Apple is also not inferior to its competitors, with the announcement of three new applications for their Apple TV set-top-box.

Accordingly, Apple has added Apple TV with three new applications including Watch ABC, Crackle and Bloomberg. Among these, the Bloomberg app has the ability to stream news 24/7, as well as stream TV content on demand. In addition, for Korean-speaking users, they will be able to use more KORTV applications.

Earlier, Apple also released a series of new applications for Apple TV users, such as Disney Channel, Disney XD, Smithsonian, Vevo and The Weather Channel. Besides new features such as integrating free iTunes Radio radio service, integrated AirPlay iCloud.

You finished reading the article "Apple added a series of new applications to Apple TV" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

