According to 9to5Mac technology page, Apple is about to deploy the iPhone 5s screen replacement service at Apple Store for US users.

The new Apple Store service will officially launch on August 4 here in the US. Apple stores have now entered the iPhone 5s screen in large numbers, enough to meet customers' needs. Earlier, Apple agreed to fix the screen at the iPhone 5 store in June 2013 and the iPhone 5c in January this year.

The cost of paying at Apple Store to replace broken screen is 150 USD ( equivalent to 3.2 million VND ) for users who do not have AppleCare + warranty . Before that, customers will have to pay up to 229 USD ( about 4.9 million ) because Apple must send the machine to other repair centers.

Even if there is no warranty, you will have to pay 269 USD ( about 5.7 million ) by the company asking you to change the new device. Not only does it cost you, you have to back up your data and there is no guarantee that the data will be transferred intact to the new machine.

At an internal meeting in June 2013, Apple said fixing the iPhone immediately at Apple Store would save the company $ 1 billion a year. Now customers can go to Apple Store and their iPhone 5s screen will be repaired just like in an hour.
