

Apple copyrighted the new FaceTime logo

The PatentlyApple page has just released a picture demonstrating that Apple has registered a new trademark FaceTime trademark before introducing the iOS 7 platform.

The PatentlyApple page has just released a picture demonstrating that Apple has registered a new trademark FaceTime trademark before introducing the iOS 7 platform.

According to PhoneArena on 1.7, since iOS 7, Apple has reformed the entire interface of features in its platform. In particular, FaceTime is also refreshed and added the ability to call with images to support both 3G and Wi-Fi networks.

Evidence shows that Apple went to register the new FaceTime logo copyright.

Unlike the old FaceTime logo, the FaceTime interface uses blue as the main color and inside is a white video camera that looks simple.

An application for registration of Apple's new logo copyright is code 85968558 and has now been submitted to the US Copyright Office ( USPTO ).

You finished reading the article "Apple copyrighted the new FaceTime logo" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.