The plastic MacBook is no longer on Apple's product list.

Along with today's launch including an upgraded version of the MacBook Air and Mac Mini, Apple has made many fans regret it when they stopped selling the MacBook plastic line. On the company's product support page there is no appearance of this MacBook. According to sources from Engadget, "Apple" has officially confirmed the information.

This move by Apple did not surprise many tech experts, the very successful launch of the MacBook Air with a cheap starting price of $ 999 directly affected the MacBook. Slimmer, fashionable and more stylish while the configuration is also quite good, making users have too many reasons to choose MacBook Air instead of a plastic MacBook.

On the Apple website, there are only product lines including MacBook Air, MacBook Pro, Mac Mini, iMac and Mac Pro.
