

Apple stopped selling Mac Mini OS X Server versions

At the last event, Apple has slightly upgraded its Mac Mini line. Improvements include Haswell CPU, HD Graphics 5000 / Iris Pro graphics card, WiFi 802.11ac, PCI flash memory.

At the last event, Apple has slightly upgraded its Mac Mini line. Improvements include Haswell CPU, HD Graphics 5000 / Iris Pro graphics card, WiFi 802.11ac, PCI flash memory.

The Mac Mini options will cost $ 499/699 $ / 999 $ and Apple has also removed the OS X Server package on the new Mac Mini. They also removed the old 2TB storage option.

NEW

1.4GHz Mac mini

1.4GHz dual-core Intel Core i5
4GB memory
500GB hard drive¹
Intel HD Graphics 5000
OS X Yosemite

$499.00

NEW

2.6GHz Mac mini

2.6GHz dual-core Intel Core i5
8GB memory
1TB hard drive¹
Intel Iris Graphics
OS X Yosemite

$699.00

NEW

2.8GHz Mac mini

2.8GHz dual-core Intel Core i5
8GB memory
1TB Fusion Drive¹
Intel Iris Graphics
OS X Yosemite

$999.00

The Mac Mini server version with the configuration and version of OS X Server has become obsolete, so Apple released the new version of Mac Mini and still sells their Server service package on the App Store. You can still buy this Server package for $ 19.99.

Although there is no 2TB memory storage option as before, the Mac Mini is still equipped with much better new hardware. 4 USB 3.0 ports, 2 2nd generation Thunderbolt ports with multiple high-speed connections, allowing users to fully expand storage with external hard drives.

You finished reading the article "Apple stopped selling Mac Mini OS X Server versions" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.