

Apple will buy back the old iPhone in Vietnam?

The good news for the Apple believers is that Apple will soon organize a program to buy old iPhones in Vietnam after the company has bought back the old iPhone in countries like the US, UK and India.

The good news for the Apple believers is that Apple will soon organize a program to buy old iPhones in Vietnam after the company has bought back the old iPhone in countries like the US, UK and India.

Currently on the Apple website, posting information to find candidates for the position of Director of Global Reuse (Re- acquisition) Program, one can 'develop and deploy the program in emerging markets. with an emphasis on APAC and ALAC, while improving the current program at EMEA and North America ' .

The old iPhone will be acquired by Apple

According to the description, the new job revealed that Apple is planning to bring the program to buy old machines to some emerging markets in Asia - Pacific, Latin America and the Caribbean.

Apple describes the program as ' a big trend 'with the goal of improving Apple's market share in emerging markets, developing countries and' reducing the flow of Apple branded materials to unauthorized markets, reduces the Apple brand ' .

And can change new iPhone, extra money

Apple has now implemented many repurchase and recycling programs around the world through its website. Before launching the new program at retail stores through the US, British and Indian store chains in 2013, Apple also implemented an online recycling and reuse program still in effect in some countries. like Canada, Japan, Brazil, Costa Rica, India and several countries in Asia - Pacific and Europe.

The old iPhone will be recycled by Apple

If this becomes true, it is good news for iFan in Vietnam, who will always want to innovate their products and upgrade to a new device.

You finished reading the article "Apple will buy back the old iPhone in Vietnam?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.