

Around the world, about 50% of computers are infected with viruses

In January 2011, the world has about 50% of computers infected with viruses, this is the latest report of Panda Labs in Vietnam, accordingly, these machines are mainly infected with Trojans accounting for 59% ..

In January 2011, the world has about 50% of computers infected with viruses, this is the latest report of Panda Labs in Vietnam, accordingly, these machines are mainly infected with Trojans accounting for 59%, next. 12% of the machines were infected with viruses, computer worms accounted for 9%, the rest were other software.

The data Panda Security offers are data collected through Panda Security's online virus scanning system. In the report, the leading countries such as Thailand, China, Taiwan, Russia and Turkey. But it is worth mentioning here that countries that always have malware attacks like Brazil or Poland, in the report that Panda put out, the number of infected machines is significantly reduced.

Panda Security also warned internet users to be wary of incoming mail with invitations about promotion items, special discount items . and especially the link in the mail. will bring users to malicious Web sites that will invade your computer.

You finished reading the article "Around the world, about 50% of computers are infected with viruses" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

