

Aspire S5 costs $ 1,399 on Microsoft Store

Acer's ultrabook has just been revealed on Microsoft's website with a 256GB SSD, Core i7 chip, 4GB RAM and Thunderbolt port.

Acer's ultrabook has just been revealed on Microsoft's website with a 256GB SSD, Core i7 chip, 4GB RAM and Thunderbolt port.

Acer Aspire S5 is one of the few ultrabooks with Thunderbolt ports.

(Photo: Notebookcheck).

Taiwanese manufacturer Acer has just allowed users to order the Aspire S5 ultrabook on the Microsoft Store for $ 1,399. However, this product was unloaded soon after. The Acer Aspire S5 was exhibited at the CES 2012 event earlier this year.

Acer Aspire S5 weighs 1.2kg and is only 15mm thin. This product was originally introduced as the "world's thinnest ultrabook" and has a frame made of aluminum-magnesium alloy. The Aspire S5 is equipped with a 1.9GHz Core i7-3517 processor based on the latest Ivy Bridge platform, a 256GB SSD, 4GB DDR3 RAM and Intel HD Graphics 4000 graphics. According to Notebookcheck, this 13.3 inch model Using a screen with a resolution of 1,366 x 768 pixels and is one of the few ultrabooks with Thunderbolt port.

Information about the Acer Aspire S5 ordering program initially shows that the product will begin shipping to users from June 25.

You finished reading the article "Aspire S5 costs $ 1,399 on Microsoft Store" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
