

Assign Background image to email in Outlook

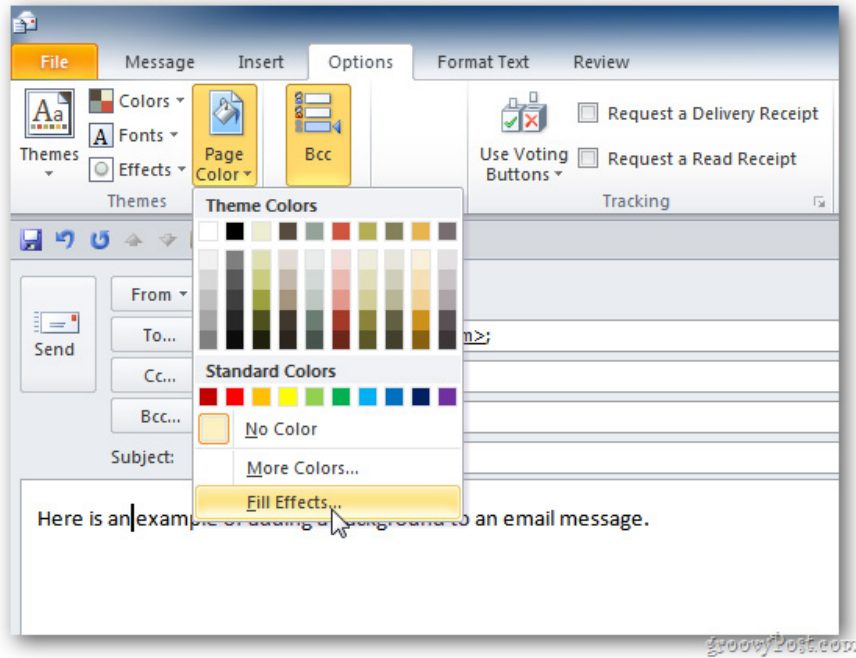

In the tutorial below, we will show you some basic steps to insert a Background image or add color in an email via Microsoft Outlook 2007 or 2010 application. But you need to keep in mind that the sender and receive to enable HTML mode to view the Background image and color ...

TipsMake.com - In the tutorial below, we will show you some basic steps to insert Background images or add color in an email via Microsoft Outlook 2007 or 2010 application . But you need to keep in mind that the sender and receiver must activate HTML mode to see the image and the Background color.

First, start Microsoft Outlook and create any new email. Enter the recipient's address, then select the Options> Page Color tab (for Outlook 2010 ) or All> Format> Page Color in Outlook 2007. The Background color will change when you hover over the corresponding color box:

If you want to add images, select Page Color> Fill Effects:

The Fill Effects window is displayed, under the Picture tab, press the Select Picture button and select the image you want to make the Background :

Examples are as follows:

Depending on the Background image you have just selected, change the font color of the email accordingly and easy to read:

Very simple and easy! Good luck!

You finished reading the article "Assign Background image to email in Outlook" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.