

ASUS is about to launch the Eee PC 1215P running Ubuntu Linux

ASUS manufacturer is preparing to release a laptop (netbook) running on the open source Ubuntu Linux operating system, codenamed the Eee PC 1215P, with a 12-inch screen.

ASUS manufacturer is preparing to release a laptop (netbook) running on the open source Ubuntu Linux operating system, codenamed the Eee PC 1215P, with a 12-inch screen .

When officially released, the Eee PC 1215P will be ASUS 'largest netbook model running Linux.

Other notable specifications of the Eee PC 1215P are the 1.5-GHz Intel Atom N570 dual-core processor, 2 GB of RAM and a 320 GB hard drive.

In addition, the Eee PC 1215P is equipped with a webcam on the frame border, 6-cell battery with 8 hours of continuous time.

ASUS plans to officially launch this netbook in the next few days at a price of 279 euros (about 395 USD).

You finished reading the article "ASUS is about to launch the Eee PC 1215P running Ubuntu Linux" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

