

Baidu browser like Google Chrome?

The leading internet search company in China has just launched its first internet browser. Basically the features on Baidu browser meet the user's requirements.

The leading internet search company in China has just launched its first internet browser. Basically the features on Baidu browser meet the user's requirements.

Baidu browser.

These functions compared to current browsers do not yet have a major breakthrough similar to the features that many browsers already have such as Quick Tab, menu locations . In addition, Baidu also offers one-stop This browser-based application row. Currently most are free, familiar applications for Chinese people to download to the computer.

Later, Baidu was also judged to be copying the idea especially when compared to the Google Chrome browser, it didn't make much difference. However, Google's dominance in the internet search market also needs to be counterbalanced in which Baidu can be a worthy competitor. Furthermore, the launch of the browser and like the Baidu search engine, part of the internet traffic will not point to Google.

You finished reading the article "Baidu browser like Google Chrome?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

