

'Beat the box' Samsung Chromebox Series 3

Samsung's Chromebox runs Chrome OS and has a compact look like Apple's Mac Mini.

Samsung's Chromebox runs Chrome OS and has a compact look like Apple's Mac Mini.

>>>Samsung out of Chromebox competes with Mac Mini

Samsung Chromebox Series 3 starts selling in the US market this month. The device has a price of 329 USD with configuration including Intel Celeron 867 speed 1.3 GHz (Sandy Bridge platform), 4 GB RAM, 16 GB SSD hard drive. It has standard Wi-Fi connectivity and Bluetooth 3.0 and connects to 3G networks of Qualcomm Gobi 3G (EV-DO / EDGE / HSPA). This product also has a DVI connector.

The Chromebox Series 3 runs Google's Chrome operating system in its 19th version. This is an operating system based on the Chrome browser and works almost always with an Internet connection. The device will store data mainly on the server online and help users to access data anytime, anywhere.

Below is a picture of Samsung Series 3 Chromebox box.

Chromebox Series 3 carrying case.

Accessories included with power cord and machine.

The device has a simple design with the Samsung and Chrome logo in front.

Bottom product.

The front edge has a power button, power jack and two USB 2.0 ports.

Next to the Intel processor logo.

Behind the device are power jacks, kenshington, DVI, Lan, USB keys

Take shape with Mac Mini.

Inside the product.

You finished reading the article "Beat the box' Samsung Chromebox Series 3" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---