

Because of the Covid-19 epidemic, UEFA officially postponed Euro 2020 until next year

UEFA officially postponed Euro 2020 until next year, Sad news for global football fans.

According to a report from the Norwegian Football Federation, due to the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic, the Euro 2020 period will be postponed until next year. As expected, Euro 2020 will take place throughout 12/6 until 12/7 2020 on 12 conventions, including England, Scotland and Ireland.

The Norwegian Football Federation's Twitter post wrote: 'UEFA has decided to postpone the Euro until 2021. The tournament will be held from June 11 until July 11 next year.'

After learning that UEFA canceled hotel booking in Copenhagen, Denmark - one of the host places for Euro 2020 - last week, many people have commented that canceling Euro is only sooner or later. As of today, we have officially or bad news.

This move is necessary in the context that many European countries have not yet been able to control the SARS-CoV-2 virus. When everything calms down, we can safely enjoy a peaceful Euro season.

You finished reading the article "Because of the Covid-19 epidemic, UEFA officially postponed Euro 2020 until next year" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.