Add music to Instagram Stories

And the latest extras for Instagram Stories. On the blog site, Instagram says users can now "insert soundtrack to suit each moment and express their feelings." You can choose from a 'library of thousands of songs' thanks to a contract between Facebook and many famous record labels.

To add songs to photos or videos in Stories, just touch to insert the sticker and then see the Music icon. In this section there will be several options for finding songs, browsing by genre, mood or selecting from a list of popular songs.

Instagram Stories now has background music

Whatever song you choose, you can listen first, skip it if you don't like it and choose another one. Friends watching Instagram Stories will listen to background music and see the sticker showing the name of the song and artist.

Users can also select songs before recording videos. Just open the camera, find the Music section under the dial button, select the song and start recording the video while the music is playing. The Music section is available on Instagram version 51 of Android and iOS but is currently only available in some countries but will soon be released worldwide. Song selection before video recording is only available on iOS.
