

The Best 5 Fast Auto Clicker for Windows PC (8, 10, 10.1)

When it comes to auto clicking there are two things that you might look out for- one, the speed at which the clicker is clicking, and two, the accuracy of the clicker.

While both these features are extremely important for your consideration, it really depends on what you make your clicker do. For example if you want to play where the faster you click on the screen the more rewards you collect, then you should prioritize the speed options of the auto clicker over the accuracy.

Similarly, if you wish to carry out a series of tasks on your computer (that one would usually do manually), and you need the clicker to click at exact positions, you should definitely try an auto clicker that has better accuracy and/or precision settings.

There are several auto clickers in the market, some of which run equally good on both Mac and Windows operating systems, while the others are more specific. In this article we will talk about auto clickers that can help you achieve a great clicking speed and are compatible with your Windows device.

Picture 1 of The Best 5 Fast Auto Clicker for Windows PC (8, 10, 10.1)

Best 5 Auto clicker tools for Windows PC

1. The Fastest Mouse Clicker for Windows

Just as the name rightly suggests, it does exactly what it reads. It is the most promising and fastest mouse clicker for any Windows device that is available for free. It has 148K+ downloads. The speed which this auto clicker can achieve is about one hundred thousand clicks per second. Not only does this emulate mouse clicks at a massive rate, but also offers a number of configurations using which you can reduce your work further. Firstly, you can choose which button's click to emulate. Secondly, you can activate the clicker using any button either on the mouse or even the keyboard. Finally, you can program the clicker to stop clicking after a certain number has been achieved. If you have this software on your device, you will surely see yourself topping the leaders list in games like Cookie Clicker.

2. Speed Auto Clicker

This is another freeware that you can install on your Windows device and use safely. The main reason for which you would want to use this software is its 'Anti-Detection' feature. This feature helps the auto clicker go undetected by any third party application. Thus, you can use this to play your favourite click-based game, achieve marvellous rewards and not even get detected for using an auto clicker. Besides, this auto clicker also offers some of the more common features like manipulating the clicking rate, fixing the total number of clicks and hotkey activation. This software will also allow you to select one or more apps where you would want the clicker to click.

3. Fast Mouse Clicker

Again, the name of the clicker gives away the most attractive feature of the said software, it's extremely fast speed. Using this software you can achieve about 9999 clicks per second and wreak havoc on your opponents in the game you have decided to play. It works smoothly on Windows devices. It lets you choose the mouse click you wish to emulate, set the target location and minimise the click interval for maximum click rate. You can use the help of hotkeys to activate and stop the clicker. You can also automatically stop the clicker if you have set the maximum number of clicks that the software would need to perform at one go.

4. Gold Soft (GS) Auto Clicker

When it comes to auto clicking, GS auto clicker is a name that is trusted by everyone who is acquainted with the concept. This is a free yet the safest and most reputed auto clicker you will come across. The interface is 'beginner friendly' and it is a lightweight software that does not burden your PC. For achieving the most number of clicks you just need to set the time interval to 'zero'. To achieve an infinite number of clicks in a given period of time you can use the 'Repeat Until stopped' option.

When it comes down to achieving high speeds, the first option, 'The Fastest Mouse Clicker for Windows' is your best bet in my opinion. The reasons are pretty simple. Firstly, no other software can even come close to the CPS that you can achieve using this software. Secondly, most of the other clickers have a tendency to hang when they click at a high rate for a longer duration. However, such complaints have not been received in case of this software, and is therefore a reliable choice.

All of these options are great if you want to use them for the purpose of gaming. However these high speed clickers (except GS Auto clicker) lack a certain finesse when it comes to sequential clicking.

Now, if you want to use an auto clicker for automatically typing out a message using keyboard keys, or maybe when you switch on your PC you would like an auto clicker to automatically open a certain application or a webpage, you would look for both precision and time.

In such cases, you could use a software like the 'Perfect Automation'. There are features that let you record and replay your actions. Using OP Auto Clicker can also be helpful since the latest version allows you to save your settings from previous sessions. This significantly reduces effort and saves a lot of time.

There are many more such options that you can get off the internet. What you would need to consider before downloading any such software is (a) your purpose, (b) if the version of the software that you are downloading is running smoothly on your device, (c) the source you are downloading the software from is safe and genuine. Using an auto clicker can actually be a really nice experience and help you save time and effort.

You finished reading the article "The Best 5 Fast Auto Clicker for Windows PC (8, 10, 10.1)" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.