

Billionaire Elon Musk is turning his attention to Cardano?

Yesterday, X account CardanoFeed posted a screenshot showing that tech billionaire Elon Musk is currently following his ADA news, hinting at the possibility of turning his attention to Cardano and its native token ADA.

'Welcome aboard!' CardanoFeed tweeted and tagged Elon Musk.

This is a surprising turn given the fact that Musk is a firm supporter of Dogecoin and also often talks about BTC.

In 2021, the company Tesla even bought $1.5 billion in Bitcoin, pushing the price of the largest cryptocurrency to an all-time high in April of that year.

Tesla also accepted Bitcoin payments for several months until billionaire Musk announced an end to it due to concerns about the environmental impact of BTC mining.

Billionaire Musk always ignores whenever ADA or other communities, such as SHIB or XRP, try to get the billionaire's attention under his tweets, so user X @CryptoIRELAND1 has hinting that this may be an April Fool's joke.

Billionaire Musk tweeted that he has taken the position of director of DEI at Disney, highlighting his desire to work with Bob Iger and Kathleen Kennedy to 'improve content'.

The crypto community supported Musk's trolling efforts and started publishing memes to highlight the 'woke position' of Disney, Netflix and other giants from different business sectors when it comes to policy society.

You finished reading the article "Billionaire Elon Musk is turning his attention to Cardano?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
