

By 2028, 45% of jobs in the technology sector will be freelance

It can be said that the future of the job market, especially in the field of defense, will be freelance jobs (freelance).

It can be said that the future of the job market, especially in the field of defense, will be freelance jobs (freelance). According to a recent report by Porch, there are more than 16 million Americans currently working on "backup" or "alternative" employment arrangements, including freelance translators and staffers. Application development on demand, season.

As we know, the technology industry is already heavily dependent on free labor, both to fill skills gaps as well as to save costs. According to statistics, about 32% of the job market in the technology industry is currently freelance jobs. Facebook, Amazon, Uber and other technology giants use thousands of employees under contracts and seasons. At Google, freelance, contract employees currently account for an overwhelming number of full-time employees.

1. Learn about information security engineers

According to analysts, in the next 10 years, it is estimated that 45% of the market share in technology sector will be free jobs. The predictions are based on a survey of more than 1,000 employees and 291 active employers in various industries. In addition, remote jobs in the technology industry are also likely to increase in the future, currently at 21%, but it is estimated that over 45% will be in 2028.

Another notable point in this report is that employees working in the technology industry often do not plan to stay in this field for long. The report shows that up to 47% of those working in the technology-related fields surveyed said they did not plan to stick with their work for a long time, perhaps due to pressure and tension. straight increase while salary has not had many positive changes. The technology industry is creating the third highest number of jobs, only after services such as restaurants - hotels (57%) and wholesale - retail (55%).

1. Top 10 IT jobs with the highest salary in the future

The report also shows that nearly 51% of full-time freelance people use third-party websites and applications to find work. Of the workers using those websites, 66% said they were satisfied with the work they found, 53% felt fine with the income, 62% felt satisfied with the career prospects, and 72% found that the balance between work and life has improved significantly.

1. Top best cross-country job search websites

Great notes for managers working in technology:

1. In the next 10 years, an estimated 45% of the job market share in technology will be free jobs.
2. 51% of people work full-time freely using third-party websites and applications to find jobs.

See more:

1. 11 basic principles that every programmer should follow
2. Funny discussion: What is the nightmare of network engineers?
3. 49 most asked questions that Apple asked in the job interview
4. Top 15 highest paid IT certificates (Part 1)

You finished reading the article "By 2028, 45% of jobs in the technology sector will be freelance" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.