2. 13 helpful tips for single life to become more interesting

It is undeniable that appearance is an extremely important factor, which is crucial and attracts the most opposite person in the first meeting.

Numerous studies have shown that both men and women have special preferences about enemy looks - namely, the opposite sex.

According to many recent studies by psychologists that, besides appearance, the following characteristics on the face are also things that make the opponent feel attracted to see you more times.

1. Eye color

According to experts, the contrast between eye color and skin color is also influential and attracts people very big.

For men it is common for women to have brown, almond-shaped eyes - they think that those with these eyes are extremely attractive. In contrast to women, they like guys who have blue eyes, oval shapes that are attractive.

2. Eyebrows

Owning a dark, neat eyebrow is a huge plus to be able to attract the opposite to both sides, right after the accent is the eyes.

However, if men like the opponent with curved arched eyebrows, the female faction wants "the other" to have thick, straight feathers that only slightly bend the tail.

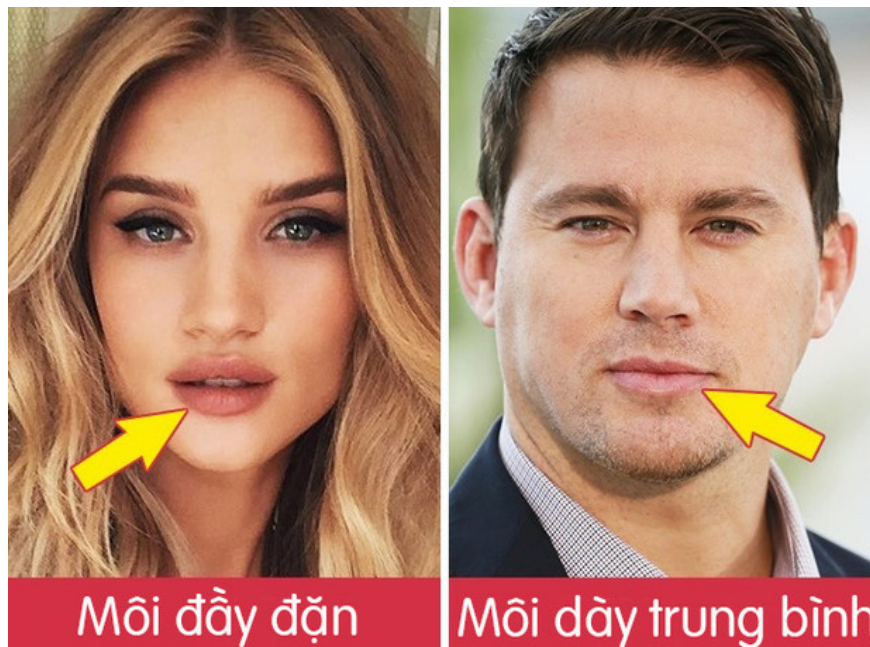

3. The nose

A moderately high nose, balanced with the face will be a great advantage for both men and women.

Of course, everyone wants to look at those who have a taller, more straight nose than a low nose. At this point, both sexes have the same hobby that possesses a straight, medium-sized, medium-sized nose.

4. The lips

We often think that dark, careful makeup women will attract more male gaze. But, in fact, this is absolutely not true, most men are attracted to women with eyes that speak and smooth skin is the point of interest for them. And so is Women.

Besides, men often don't observe the colors that women beat, because men are very poor in recognizing colors, which they really care about and enjoy in the woman's lips is the picture. lips shape. They like women who own regular lips, while women only need the male lips to be attractive enough.

5. The chin

Today, a tapered chin will be one of the factors for us to evaluate beauty in both men and women. For men, it is often attracted by women who possess a slim, smooth chin and vice versa, women are fascinated with those with square chin.

For women, beauty, and the attraction of the majority are influenced by stress hormones in the body, the lower the level, the more attractive the woman is. In men, attractiveness is measured by a weak or strong immune system.

6. Face shape
